Costanzi Gets City Water Job

Improvements To Cost $476,145

A contract was awarded Thursday night by the water board to the Anthony Costanzi Corp., of this city , which had bid $476,145 to improve the city's water distribution system.

Improvements are to involve 21 city areas and among major projects will be installation of a 14-inch cast iron main to improve presure and flow in the Ponckhockie area, and a new 16-inch main in Liberty Street to improve uptown "fire flow."

The 14-inch main to the Ponckhockie area will extend down Delaware Avenue from Broadway to Crane Street and over the latter street to East Strand. The new Liberty Street main will extend from Broadway to Clinton Avenue.

Work In Most of Wards

It was noted that improvement of water lines in downtown's urban renewal area will be delayed until other phases of urban renewal are advanced. Improvements, as planned, to date, however, involve work in nearly every city ward.

Improvements of the distribution system is to be done as part of a long-range program for which $670,000 has been appropriated.

Completed during the summer was the cleaning and lining of large supply mains in the city. That work was done by the Spiniello and Nestro Corp., of Orange, N. J. at a cost of $72,980.

Lowest of Eight Bidders

The Anthony Costanzi Corp. was the lowest of eight bidders for improving the distribution system. Bids ranged from $777,165 to Costanzi's $476,145.

The water department also seeks approval of a bond sum of $550,000 to increase storage at Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, and action on that is being considered by the Common Council's laws and rules committee.

Board Favors Raising Dam

A main phase of the project would involve raising the height of the dam.

Mayor John J. Schwenk recently asked consideration of another plan which would involve use of water from the Echo Lake-Sawkill Creek watershed, and which he felt would be less costly than increasing Cooper Lake storage.

This was discussed recently by the water board, which, recent reports indicate, still favors increasing Cooper Lake storage.

Plans Progress For New Junior High at Katrine

Preliminary architectural drawings for the new junior high school at Lake Katrine are progressing, and it is hoped that ground will be broken for the new school next Spring, according to W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of Kingston schools.

Dr. Hoover reported at Thursday night's meeting of the Board of Education that Harry Halverson, school architect is completing the plans for the new school building, and on Sept. 20 the architect, and the building committee of the Board of Education plan to go to Albany with the preliminary architectural plans.

On that day the plans will be submitted to the State Department of Education, and early approval is anticipated. Dr. Hoover plans to attend the Albany session.

The board at last night's meeting, the first presided over by Arthur H. Withall, president, awarded several bids including one for three relocatable classroom buildings to Sectional Structures, Inc. The low bid was $38,000. The portable classrooms will be used at Kingston High and Tillson schools.

A bid on seven pianos for the school year 1965-66 was awarded to Denton, Cottier and Daniels, Inc., on recommendation of Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent for business management. The total price was listed at $4,105.96. The pianos will be purchased, one each, for Kingston High School, School 8, Port Ewen, Lake Katrine, Chambers, Tillson and Hurley schools.

Town & Country Garden Center was awarded a bid for chain link fencing. The bid was

BACK IN CUSTODY—Alan Rufus McKinney, 24, who led all available area law enforcement agencies on a 20-hour manhunt after his escape from the custoday of a sheriff's deputy Wednesday afternoon, was back in manacles following his capture Thursday noon by a volunteer deputy, another deputy and two Kingston policemen. He was discovered in a swamp near Struble's Pond behind the Governor Clinton Hotel after being seen by an off-duty patrolman. He had been jailed on a charge of illegal possession of a firearm, was reportedly wanted in connection with an armed robbery in Poughkeepsie and now faces the additional escape charge. Back at the Ulster County jail, he is flanked by (l-r) County Investigator Thomas Mayone; Deputy Thomas O'Brien, one of his captors; Sheriff Claude Bell; Investigator Richard Ryan of State Police BCI, and William A. Krom, volunteer deputy. Krom, coincidentally a Republican candidate for Ulster County sheriff, was joined by city police and O'Brien in spotting escapee and flushing him out of swamp without resistance. Tax Lists Are Signed

New School Bonds Are Sold for $1,450,000

A bid for bond anticipation notes in the amount of $1,450,000 for the construction and equipment of a new elementary school on the Merilina Avenue school site, was awarded Thursday night by the Board of Education of the Kingston School District (Consolidated) to the Marine Midland Trust Company, New York City.

The successful bidder submitted a rate of 2.48 per cent interest with a premium of $14.50.

The board awarded the bid on recommendation of Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent of schools for business management.

To Borrow $150,000

A resolution to borrow from the Kingston Trust Company $150,000 in anticipation of taxes which have been levied in the Kingston school district for the fiscal year July 1, 1965 through June 30, 1966, was unanimously passed.

The Board noted that it is necessary to borrow $150,000 at this time in anticipation of taxes to pay the current expenses of the school district for the current fiscal year. Taxes levied for the current fiscal year total $3,547,53·01.

At last night's meeting, the board confirmed the tax list and signed the tax warrant for collections by Edna S. Morgan, collector-treasurer of the school district.

Two Installments

The taxes will be collected in two installments, the first to be paid on or before Oct. 15 and the second on or before Dec. 15. No interest will be collected on any payment paid on or before its due date. It was noted that on any installment paid after the due date, interest at the rate of one per cent a month, or part thereof, will be charged from the date of the warrant until paid or until the return of the warrant to the Board of Education on Dec. 15.

Based on the tax rolls submitted by the several assessors and the special equalization rates furnished by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment the board officially established tax rates for the school year 1965-66 in the various communities of the school district.

Township Rates

The rate in the townships per $1,000 of assessed valuation follows:

Esopus $74.073; Hurley, $70.369; Kingston, $74.072; Marbletown, $63.926; New Paltz, $78.446; Rosendale, $117.281;

School Vandalism Calls for Hiring Night Watchman

Because of continued vandalism at Meagher School, the Kingston Board of Education at Thursday night's meeting, voted to hire a watchman to patrol the school grounds evenings in an effort to eliminate the costs of repairs.

In other business at last night's session, the board received requests for improved bus service for children attending kindergarten class at Chambers School, and heard a report from Supt. of Schools W. Wendell Hoover that the enrollment in Kingston schools for the 1965-66 school year will exceed 10,000.

Damage Totals $100

Dr. Hoover reported that Richard McLean, superintendent of maintenance in the Kingston School District, had suggested that an off-duty police officer be hired to patrol the Meagher School grounds on a staggered work schedule nights as a means to break up "this serious problem" of vandalism. McLean reported windows had been smashed and railroad fuses had been lit causing a charring of the school walls. The damage was estimated at $100.

Arthur H. Withall, board president, said parents of children and residents residing near the school should be appraised of the vandalism, which he said, "is causing unnecessary expenditures which is reflected in the tax rate."

Sam S. Pepper noted that the Capture Shows Cooperation By All Police

BY CHARLES M. McCARTHY
Freeman Staff Writer

Kingston area residents who were aware of the fact that there was an armed jail inmate at large—and those who weren't—slept a lot easier last night knowing that he was back in custody due to the cooperation of three major law enforcement agencies.

Alan Rufus McKinney, 24-year-old prisoner who escaped Wednesday afternoon from a deputy sheriff's custody in a dentist's office across from the Ulster County Jail, was back in manacles shortly after he was flushed out of an uptown swamp some 20½ hours later, without a struggle.

Fortunately, the service pistol he wrenched from the deputy, wasn't on the escapee when he was found. The weapon was found later in a cluster of brush in the area.

Additional Charges

McKinney now faces an escape charge in addition to a charge of illegal possession of a firearm for which he was previously arrested and confined, and a warrant from Poughkeepsie in connection with an armed robbery there.

Meanwhile, both Sheriff Claude Bell and Police Chief Robert F. Murphy had high praise for the cooperation between their departments and the State Police.

Chief Murphy said, "I commend all concerned for the fine manner in which they cooperated in apprehending the escapee. Through coordination of the State Police, Sheriff's Department and the Kingston Police, we were able to do the job we set out to do."

Sheriff Bell said the apprehension of the escapee was the result of the cooperation of "every department." He said, "I think our men and the City Police and State Police deserve a lot of credit."

Ends at Noon

McKinney's melodramatic escape, which was punctuated by pistol-point drama and early morning blasts from a deputy's shotgun, came to an abrupt end shortly after noon yesterday when he was spotted by an off-duty policeman and flushed from the swamp by deputies and city police.

Chief Murphy said that McKinney was spotted by off-duty Patrolman Patrick Colbert, one of the newer members of the department, which itself has been hit by a manpower shortage. The chief said that McKinney recognized Colbert and moved back for cover.

Minutes later, Willam A. Krum, who volunteered to participate in the manhunt, converged on the swampland behind the Governor Clinton Hotel with Deputy Thomas O'Brien—armed with a shotgun—and Patrolman William Whalen. Once spotted, McKinney shouted to the officers and within minutes was back in the custody he left almost a day earlier.

It was McKinney's lightning like escape from the dentist's office that set off the sequence of bizarre events.

He had been taken to the office of Dr. Julian I. Gifford at 286 Wall Street opposite the Court House jail, for treatment of tooth trouble. There, before Deputy Sheriff John Daly was able to replace the handcuffs, the jail inmate lunged at the deputy's service belt and ripped

Father Divine Is Dead; Was Known Here in 30's

Father Divine, self-styled God, who made an impact on several communities of Ulster County in the early 30's, died today at Philadelphia, Pa. He was believed to be at least 100 years old.

The 5-foot-2 cherubic-looking Negro was revered by thousands, many of whom set up colonies and camps in various parts of the county.

In 1938 Krum Elbow, a 500-acre Hudson River estate near Highland, just across from the home of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, became a retreat for the cult.

Other colonies of followers were in the Wilbur section of Kingston, and on Route 32 near the High Falls at Saxton, Town of Saugerties.

It was reported at various times that Father Divine participated in the purchase of real property in Ulster County, in the names of followers, actively supervised his business and his business organization, and managed them in many if not all respects.

There was also what was described as the "super heaven or Promised Land" at Greenkill Park, near Eddyville. This facility was nearly wiped out by a disastrous fire in the 30's which destroyed many of the cabins, bungalows and recreation sheds.

The cult also operated several restaurants in the area, one at High Falls, and another at Saxton where chicken dinners were sold for 25 cents.

There is still a Father Divine Peace Mission listed in the city directory at 67 Chapel Street.

A story that received wide circulation by Eastern wire services in July 1937 was an account of a river steamer pilgrimage of 1,755 followers to the

Indian Troops Withdraw From Fighting in Lahore

Convince NASA on Moon Trip

Cooper, Conrad Are Itching to Go

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr., two space champions who itch to fly to the moon, proved to space officials' satisfaction man could survive a roundtrip lunar voyage.

Enthusiastic Story

The Gemini 5 space twins wound up 11 days of debriefing on their eight-day flight Thursday with an enthusiastic story of lots of work, excitement and only a few frustrations.

Before their news conference, Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, noted that the Cooper-Conrad flight matched the time it would take to fly to the moon and back.

"The results, I think, prove man can do this and do it well," he said.

The flight apparently revealed no major problem areas that might endanger or delay the Gemini program, with Gemini 6 on tap Oct. 25 and the marathon 14-day Gemini 7, sometime in December.

Capsule on Pad

The space agency is wasting no time preparing for the critical Gemini 6 flight, a one or two-day mission that will include a rendezvous, docking and locking maneuver with an Agena satellite. The capsule was mated with the Titan 2 rocket Thursday on the launch pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Cooper and Conrad had hoped to maneuver to within a few feet of a small radar evaluation pod they launched early in their flight Aug. 21. But a pressure problem in the fuel cell system forced a scrub.

Then, they created their own ghost satellite, coming to within a relatively short distance of it in a series of rendezvous maneuvers like those planned by astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford on Gemini 6.

Cooper and Conrad have no doubts the maneuver can be completed. Docking is absolutely essential on a lunar excursion.

"I think we can be successful," Cooper told the news conference in regard to docking. "I don't see any reason why it won't be."

Conrad agreed. "Every indication we got from onboard systems operations say we should be able to do it."

Offer Recommendations

Cooper and Conrad have made several recommendations to space officials on how space flights can be more comfortable and more successful.

One, he said, is that astronauts should sleep at the same time and during a normal daynight cycle.

Cooper noted the spacecraft was extremely quiet, "but the noise level was so low that I would actually wake Pete and vice versa, turning the pages in our flight plan, or doing things you normally wouldn't think would make enough noise to bother anybody."

"Plus the fact there's so many interesting places you pass over, doggone it, during the dayside you'd be trying to sleep and you'd invariably start looking out the window at some

Ferozepore Is Shelled By Pakistan

3-Pronged Push Threatens City

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Defense Ministry conceded that India's army withdrew in the north today and that Pakistani artillery shells were falling on the Indian city of Ferozepore. Pakistan said a three-pronged advance on that front also threatened Amritsar, 50 miles north of Ferozepore.

Indian Outposts Fall

The fighting was on the Lahore front, where Indian troops crossed into Pakistan Monday. Ferozepore is 10 miles inside India. While Defense Minister Y.B. Chavan did not say whether the army withdrawal was into India, the shelling of the city suggested this.

A spokesman in Rawalpindi asserted Pakistani troops captured a number of Indian outposts around the border point of Wagah, 20 miles west of Amritsar. Radio Pakistan said heavy pressure was being exerted on Indian troops along the front after they were driven from Pakistan.

While the fighting boiled up 100 miles or so from Rawalpindi, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant met in that Pakistani capital with Foreign Minister Z.A. Bhutto in an effort to obtain a cease-fire.

Thant Gets Nowhere

Indicating that Thant was getting nowhere, a qualified Pakistani source said the visit of Thant was "like a Boy Scout blowing his whistle — tweet, tweet — and telling us to be good. We have been good long enough and now we must fight."

Thant is expected to come to New Delhi Saturday for talks with Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri. He is likely to get little farther on his peace mission in New Delhi because the Indians appear in no mood to compromise on the key issue dividing the two nations—Kashmir.

It was a Pakistani invasion of southwest Kashmir last week that touched off the current fighting. Both nations claim the Himalayan state which has been divided since 1949 by a U.N. cease-fire line.

Area Battle Crucial

Chavan's report of the withdrawal on the Lahore front was made to Parliament.

There had been complete silence on the progress of the battle in this area, considered crucial because both sides can bring their tanks into play on the dusty plains around Ferozepore.

The Indian government radio claimed successes on the other two fighting fronts.

At the northern end of the ground war zone, in the Jammusialkot sector of Kashmir,

Survey Report Heard

Cement Plant May Face Legal Action on Dust

A report from the Air pollution Committee of the board of supervisors recommends that in the event the Hudson Cement Company on North Street does not "conscientiously strive toward lessening the air pollution" in the area that legal action be taken to "force the company to reduce its pollution of air in the community".

The recommendation contained in a report submitted Thursdaynight to the board of supervisors was presented by supervisor Alexander J. Banyo (R), Ulster , chairman of the committee. On motion of supervisor John Quimby (D), Marlboro, the board accepted the recommendation and adopted unanimously a resolution authorizing such action if the company does not "immediately correct the situation". Banyo seconded the motion of Quimby.

Attending the session was a delegation of East Kingston residents, an area immediately adjacent to the cement plant and very seriously affected by dust and air pollution.

Covered With Dust

Supervisor Irving Bell (D), 6th ward, reported on a recent visit he had made to the area and commented on the conditions he found. Bell said homes in the East Kingston area were being covered with cement dust and he presented a sample of dust which had been collected from one home.

Supervisor Relyea (R), Hurley, stated that people had gone to Virginia to investigate conditions at cement plants prior to the erection of the local cement plant and saw conditions there. Conditions there were "good." He charged, however, that conditions here were not similar to the conditions found in the south and charged that the Hudson Cement Company was "not living up to what they guaranteed"

The report stated that a meeting of the committee had been held on August 19 with several members of the Supervisors committee, members of the county Board of Health and members of the Health Department, and Harry Hovey, chief of the New York State Bureau of Air Pollution Control Service.

Health Only Basis Now

Harry F. Edinger, Director of Environment Sanitation, Ulster County Health Department, told the committe that at present the only regulatory action that may be taken against any offender in the pollution of air is one that must be measured as to its detriment to health. There are varying opinions as to whether the content of the dust from the Hudson Cement Company plant is considered injurious to health or not.

The committee report stated that research shows that the State Department of Health in its findings several years ago has determined that the dust content from the cement company is not injurious to health and therefore the County Board of Health could not take any action against the cement company.

Report on Study

A study of the problem was authorized by the Board of Supervisors and an appropriation was made available several years ago for the study. It was completed in March 1963.

The findings of the survey reveal that the problem is from Rondout Creek north to Saugerties and from the Hudson River west four to six miles. The report states that the survey found the dust in the Wallkill Valley was 8 tons per square mile per month and compared to the dust fall in the East Kingston area of 60 tons per square mile per month. In the county there is a settlement of dust particles of about 12,000 tons per year and of this total about 9,500 tons are in the Town of Ulster, primarily in the East Kingston area.

In the committee report submitted to the board last evening it was stated that "at this moment" there is no one in the State Health Department or the County Health Department who can "prove medically that such dust setlement is absolutely injurious to health and therefore, direct action along these lines

Officials Discount Real Involvement Of Peking Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proclaiming a policy of neutrality in the India-Pakistan conflict, U.S. officials tended to discount today the possibility of a major Red Chinese involvement in the fighting.

They nevertheless watched closely the Communist country's mounting flow of invective toward India, which included Thursday an attempt to link the United States with what was called India's aggression against Pakistan.

China's Premier Chou En-lai accused India of "a massive armed attack on Pakistan," and said she "could not have made such a serious military adventure without the consent and support of the United States." His speech marked the third straight day of Red Chinese denunciations of India.

A State Department press officer, Robert J. McCloskey, denied that the United States is favoring either side in the undeclared war over Kashmir.

"The U.S. position is one of impartiality," he said, and spoke at another point of "our posture of neutrality in this."

McCloskey declined to say how much officials may be concerned about the possibility of a Red Chinese attack on India.

Other sources said they believe Peking is ready to wage a war of nerves along her Tibetan border with India — but to go no further.

Supervisors Approve College Budget, Transact Busy Meeting on Thursday

By unanimous vote of the Board of Supervisors Thursday night approved the budget of the Ulster Community College and made available the sum of $154,500 as the county's contribution for the period from September 1, 1965, to August 31, 1966. The six months period became effective due to a newly mandated fiscal year set up by the state.

The resolution of approval of the college budget and providing for the county's share of $154,500 was offered by Supervisor Roy Webber (R), chairman of the board's Community College Commitee. The money will be raised by tax levy.

Other business transacted included the authorization of a committee to investigate and ascertain if there is an official County Flag and in the event there is none, to consider the designing of one. Supervisor James A. Rapp (R), First Ward, offered the resolution which called attention that Ulster was one of the original counties of the state and should have an official flag. Supervisor Roger Mabie (D) Esopus, suggested that it might be appropriate to have a contest for submission of designs with prizes. He noted that there were numerous people in the county, including Woodstock artists, who were competent to design such a flag.

A communication from Deyo W. Johnson was received regarding proposed abandonment by the Erie-Lackawana Railroad of the Crawford branch line which terminates at Pine Bush, Ulster County. Business in southern Ulster and parts of Sullivan and Orange Counties depend on the Pine Bush station for rail freight service and he urged that the station be kept open. Johnson suggested that residents of the area appear and protest the closing when a hearing is called by the Public Service Commission. He suggested that wires and letters be sent to George McHugh, chief of Railroad Bureau, New York Public Service Commission, Albany, and also to the Interstate Commerce Commission Washington, D. C.

A communication was received from the Middletown State Hospital notifying the board that the Middletown-Kingston Aftercare clinic has been moved from the old location at 27 West O'Reilly Street to 103 Franklin Street where the new Half-Way House was recently opened.

Charges of "political maneuvering" were made when Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, offered a resolution seeking to have the recently enacted 2 per cent sales tax repealed.

The majestic resolution called the 2 per cent sales and use tax

Revolution in the Three R's

Accent in Social Studies Is In Making History Lifelike

EDITOR'S NOTE — Efforts to breathe new life into the social studies — "to give the kids a view of what it was like to be alive at a certain time" — are of major concern to the reformers of curricula in American schools. The following fourth of five articles on the revolution in the 3Rs tells of some of the new developments in this field.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — In all the fanfare and excitement of curriculum reform sweeping through the nation's schools, the social studies are the poor kinfolk at the tag end of the parade.

Although there are currently 40 or more "national" reform projects under way in the social studies, most are only two or three years old. None is ready for the classroom.

Not that people haven't been complaining that reform is long overdue. All those charges that the schools teach too much "life adjustment" and "social living" are aimed directly at the social studies.

To whatever extent those charges are true, the blame lies with the builders, not the tools.

The social studies comprise seven thoroughly respectable academic disciplines: history, geography, political science, economics, sociology, anthropology, and psychology. Their true purpose is the proper study of mankind.

In terms of securing financial support for curriculum reform, however, the social studies have a major drawback: They don't really help build things that fly higher, go faster, or bang louder.

As a result, millions of dollars have been poured into projects to update physics, chemistry, mathematics, elementary sschool science, and the like. The social studies have remained on welfare.

One major reform project now well under way is the Social Studies Curriculum Program here in Cambridge. It is a joint effort of the American Council of Learned Societies and Educational Services, Inc. (ESI) is a nonprofit organization founded in 1958 to handle the high school physics program developed by the Physical Science Study Committee. It is now engaged in a score of curriculum reform projects.

The junior high school program is the farthest advanced, but it will be at least a year before the eighth-grade materials are commercially available, and at least two years before the seventh- and ninth-grade programs are ready.

The elementary school program is still in the advanced planning stage. The high school program probably won't be ready until after a least two more years of testing and revision.

At all three levels — elementary, junior high and high school — the emphasis will be on making history come alive.

"We want to give the kids a view of what it was like to be alive at a certain time — not just from the point of view of leading statesmen, but from the point of view of ordinary citizens," said Irving Cohen, director of the high school program.

"We're trying to get them to feel they're a part of the history they're studying."

To do this, the program will use original materials from the time described, whenever possible.

The seventh-grade course will be called "Invention of the West."

"Between pre-Christian Athens and 15th century Italy, something was invented which we call Western civilization," said Prof. Harold Baaken, on loan to Educational Services, Inc. from Brandeis University.

"We will tackle this period with selected case studies, not by trying to cover the waterfront. We may have a unit on 5th century Athens — child rearing and family relations — or the fall of the Roman republic, or 8th century Bagdad."

The eighth-grade course will be called, "Subject to Citizen."

"We will pair three episodes from English and American history," Baaken said.

"The Elizabethan era and Colonial America, to show a status society; the English civil war and the American Revolution, to show these societies in upheaval; the English revolution and the Constitution-building period in this country, to show a resolution in the conflict."

The ninth-grade program will deal roughly with the period from 1800 to the present, and will be, Baaken said, "a study of politics in its broadest sense.

"We will look at six or eight major ethnic groups — how did they get into the system? We will start with the Irish and the Scandinavians, and work up to Negro race relations.

Kingston Town Board Plans Talk On Equalization

The announcement that the state equalization rate for the Town of Kingston has dropped 7 points, ultimately resulting in higher taxes will be the major topic of discussion at the Town Board meeting scheduled Monday 8 p. m. in the Town Hall, Sawkill.

The regular meeting of the board was rescheduled from the first Monday of the month, due to the conflict of Labor Day.

In addition to routine matters, Supervisor Douglas Dye will present communications recently received from the State Board of Equalization and Assessments, which explain the reasons for the recent change in equalization rates in the county.

A few weeks ago, in an article published in the Freeman, it was noted in comparison with other townships in the county, the Township of Kingston was outstanding in having the greatest percentage of change in the entire county.

This change in the equalization rate in the Township will result in higher taxes for the average property owner.

Supervisor Dye will present informational material and discuss this problem with the townspeople. Many persons are not familiar with exactly what equalization rates signify, and the Town Board is prepared to answer any questions and explain just why the situation has arisen and the facts.

The current efforts to establish a town planning board, and further information about this problem will also be one of the subjects to be discussed.

At the present time, there are two vacancies in the official capacities of the township. Constable Kenneth Whispell has resigned his position and has moved out of the township. Mrs. Ruth Reedy, who has been serving as welfare officer, recently resigned from that post. The Town Board plans to appoint successors to these posts as soon as possible.

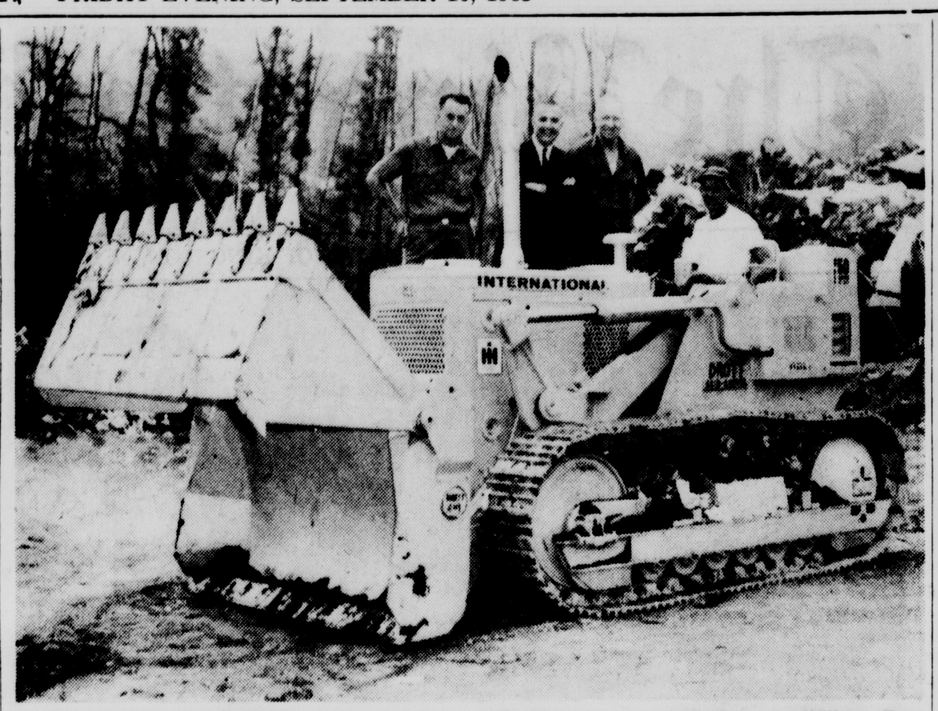

There is still a movement under way to unite the comunity in the display of flags on all national holidays. Committee members on this project, Frederick Parker and Supervisor Dye were very gratified by the number of flags displayed throughout the community on Labor Day, and a number of persons commented favorably on the concentrated effort of the community to show the American spirit of the citizenry.

It is the sincere hope of the comittee and other residents of the town that more of the residents will join in this community effort to show a united front in American loyalty.

The general public is most cordially invited to attend the Town Board meeting. The Town Board is always available to answer questions, and discuss matters pertaining to town affairs and activities, and is very glad to see the residents of the town attend these meetings, the supervisor said.

It has only been in the past several administrations that Town Boards have made a special effort to publicize meetings, and have meetings on a regularly scheduled basis so the townspeople are aware of the meeting dates and can plan to attend.

The Board meeting is the place to learn what your Town is doing and the place to which any ideas for betterment of Town affairs should be presented, he said.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE TOWN OF ULSTER

ENROLLED REPUBLICANS from HAROLD KEATOR

Who is seeking the Republican Nomination for SUPERVISOR

Dear Friends,

In my travels about our Town, I have endeavored to see as many of you as possible. I would have liked to have been able to sit down and talk with each of you. However, as you realize, this was impossible.

To those of you I have not seen and do not know me, I respectfully suggest and request that you inquire about me from one of your friends or neighbors who does know me. I can't think of a better way to have the "chips fall as they may."

Above all, I urge each enrolled Republican to attend the Caucus at the Chambers School on Saturday, September 11 at 7 P. M. and vote for the person of his choice, who will be your Republican Candidate in the November elections. Certainly, I want and will appreciate your support at our Caucus. However, regardless of whom you support, you have an excellent slate from which to choose.

I will look forward to seeing each of you on

SEPT. 11th AT THE CHAMBERS SCHOOL, 7 P. M.

Sincerely Yours,

Harold Keator

Milton Avery Show Opens Friday

One of the most outstanding exhibtions of painting to be held in Woodstock, the Milton Avery Memorial Exhibition, opens at Woodstock Art Gallery September 10 and remains through September 22. The Woodstock Artists Association, which sponsors the show, proudly presents one of their own, an artist who, with his wife, spent time in Woodstock in the 40's and again in more recent years.

Having won international recognition, his paintings are now a part of the permanent collections of major museums in the United States and abroad: the Metropolitan Museum, the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney Museum, the Baltimore Museum, the Philadelphia Museum, Phillips Gallery, Barnes Foundation, Yale University Art Gallery, Tel Aviv Museum and many others. Only a book could report the full extent of his achievements and the honors received. Such a book, entitled Paintings 1930-60, was published in 1962.

During the span of years from his first one-man show in New York City in 1935 at the Valentine Gallery, to the retrospective exhibition at the Whitney Museum in 1960, there were many exhibitions in the leading art centers of large cities of the United States, and abroad. Critics groped for words to portray the depth, the extent of feeling that he expressed through his brush and use of color. The individuality of Avery's paintings is explained in many ways: economy without stint, limitation without restriction, daring but without glamor, absence of value contrasts but use of intense color.

"He was a man of many paintings and few words," wrote Arnold Blanch, who, along with many other Woodstock painters, knew him well. The painting "Quarry Bathers" (1940) represents a local scene at the quarry near the present home of the Zaidenberge. Nature and the world around him furnished source material with an unlimited range.

The present exhibition was selected by his wife Sally and their daughter, representing various periods from 1936-63. The opening party will be held September 11 from 4-6 p. m. at which Woodstocks will convene to pay homage to one whose influence was felt by the younger artists as well as his contemporaries. The impression he has made on this section of the century is lasting, and will continue to be influential.

Car Tips

LeRoy M. Griggs President

CAR SUDDENLY STOP?

Are you in the middle of nowhere when your car suddenly stops? Here's some advice on what to do in such a predicament. First, look at the gas gauge (this happens to us all sometime). If that is registering gas in the tank, then lift the hood. I am assuming that you don't want to really turn into a grease monkey so just look to see if any of the wires seem to be out of order. Either being out of gas or some type of loose wire accounts for most cases of stalled autos. Battery connections on? If the trouble hasn't been found, better make for a phone.

And here's the number to phone, FE 8-7800 when you need work done on your car. Our mechanics take pride in their work. Drive out to PARSONS for complete satisfaction.

KINGSTON NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 10, 1965

DR. ALBERT SCHWEITZER

To millions of people around the world, Dr. Schweitzer was that legendary good man who was helping the natives of Africa.

Few may have known that he was not only a physician but also a theologian, musicologist and teacher, the author of numerous books on religion, music and philosophy, a renowned performing artist on the organ and authority on the life and music of Bach.

In the eyes of the common people of the world, Schweitzer's work as a missionary doctor outshone all his other accomplishments. In his own life his name became a symbol of all that was good and best in the human race.

For a century wracked with national and racial hatreds, which produced monsters who raised genocide to assembly-line perfection, such symbols were few and desperately needed.

Albert Schweitzer was born in Alsace on Januray 14, 1875. After receiving a medical degree in 1913, he put aside his other brilliant careers to found a hospital at Lambarene in pestilential French Equatorial Africa.

Africa then was in the heyday of colonialism, having been freshly carved up into possessions by the European powers. Schweitzer was the missionary, the healer, who has always followed in the tracks of the conquistadors, the type of man who brings to the people rather than taking from them.

In his later years, the almost saintly Schweitzer was occasionally the object of criticism, from both Africans and Europeans. Some of the former, struggling for national independence and no longer wishing to be considered "the white man's burden," saw in him an example of the white man's superiority and condescension.

Debunkers among the latter pointed to his outmoded medical methods, his autocratic rule of his hospital, his lack of sympathy for the changes sweeping Africa.

All of this was straw blowing about the feet of a man who towered in the esteem of the world. Albert Schweitzer will be remembered and revered for his self-sacrifice, his devotion to an ideal—"Do good for the pure love of good"—for his simple humanity.

His long life of 90 years was more than a bridge between two profoundly different eras of history. It was a bridge between peoples, between cultures—a bridge pointing toward a better future for all the world.

SIGNALS FOR SAFETY

Much is being made of all the new safety devices featured on 1966 model cars. This makes it seem all the more strange that Detroit cannot seem to come up with so simple a thing as adequate turn signals.

Say a driver intends to glide to the curb and stop. His right turn signal won't tell that; its blinking may convey the erroneous message that he expects to turn right at the intersection half a block away. To make sure, he has to put out his hand as grandpa did. And unless he is on the alert after tooling onto a superhighway, his turn signal may blink for 10 miles—to the irritation of all behind him.

So here you are, Detroit, in this era of concern over safety, a problem: Provide turn signals that give unmistakable directions and then quit signaling.

The new Miss U.S.A. is Diana Batts. She has big blue eyes—which, we have no doubt, she bats with devastating effect on young men within range.

'WAY DOWN UNDER

Fifteen or 20 years ago, only zealots with a bit of wild in their eyes talked of living beneath the surface of the ocean. Only zealots and, of course, submariners, who had been doing it for years. But submarines are different. What the undersea zealots talked about was spending time—days, weeks, perhaps much longer— in and out of more or less permanent structures far beneath the waves.

Now this is being translated into reality. Pioneers such as the Frenchman Cousteau are being followed by men who do, more or less routinely, what was the stuff of speculation not long past. The men, for example, now using Sealab 2 as their base 205 feet under the sparkling Pacific waves off La Jolla. All of which proves again, if anyone still needs proof, that we live in a world where you have to be careful lest today's giddy talk turn out to be tomorrow's commonplace.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE BIG ADVENTURE IN EAST EUROPE

Munich: West Germany—The great adventure in giving the consumer a break all across the board in the five nations of the Soviet eastern European satellite bloc is scheduled to begin in earnest next January. What will happen then, according to economists who watch events in the satellites for Radio Free Europe here in Munich, could dwarf in importance most of the things that are now getting the news headlines.

The whole adventure must inevitably provoke more contradictions than Marx could ever discern in the workings of capitalism. For it will, in effect, start competition between businesses whose managers are appointed by the State and who are beholden to that State for both capital and raw materials. Whether it is possible to make a real play for the consumers' favor under such conditions is still to be demonstrated. In Soviet Russia the advocates of "Libermanism" say the trick can be worked. But the betting in Munich is that the experiment must fail if Communist bureaucrats in the political hierarchy insist on maintaining their political grip on the productive forces of their individual nations.

When you institute free choice and free prices, so one economist here points out, you lose political control over what you produce. The consumer is in a position to make things miserable for the party hack in industrial management. The best managers will be getting the business for their particular companies; the goods made by the poorer managers will pile up in the warehouses. But the best managers may discover that their party hack rivals in other factories have more friends "at court" (meaning inside the political bureaucracy) than they themselves can command merely by showing good records. The question is: who gets the capital for plant renovation and expansion? The man who has done a good job, or the man who complains that poor equipment has held down his efficiency? Moreover, what interest do you pay for capital? How do you fare when you ask for an increase in your quota of raw materials? In short, how can one single piece of an economy continue to respond to free market signals unless it has free competitive access to everything that is needed to promote its efficiency? Free lending institutions and free raw materials producers are required.

With the consumer taking charge, central planning of production is, as the Germans say, kaput. The east Europeans have had their fill of central planning anyway. In Poland, the planners set things in motion in the late Nineteen Fifties to provide plenty of radio sets for everybody. They started a "Five-Year Plan" a little in advance in order to build the factory equipment necessary to turn out tube radios. But just as the factories were getting into tube set production, Polish consumers began to hear of transistor radios. They refused to buy what had been so liberally provided for them by the planners.

Since this sort of thing has been going on for sometime, it means that people have saved lots of money which they should have spent on tube radios and other obsolete stuff. There has been a fantastic increase in personal savings in all five countries in the eastern European bloc. When consumer industries are freed next January to woo the potential buyer with quality stuff, this banked-up buying power could result in a fantastic inflation. For the money is there to spend, and in a free market the price level can jump up as well as down.

The way to drive a Communist functionary crazy in Eastern Europe today is to mention the phrase, "creeping capitalism." To combat the spread of the phrase, the functionaries describe what is planned for next January as something that is entirely compatible with state ownership of industry. But no matter what it is called it will have to drive forward toward a free society or be choked back to something that is politically manageable by people whose personal lust is not for market freedom but for a continued monopoly of power.

No one knows what is in store for East Europe. But there will be an explosion one way or another. (Copyright, 1965, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The Doctor's Mailbag

Rest and Balanced Diet Vital in Emphysema Care

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—In a recent column you said emphysema might be an aftermath of inadequate treatment of bronchitis. What is adequate treatment?

A—In the acute stage, if there is fever, you should stay in bed except that you may sit at the table for meals (no stair-climbing involved) and may go to the toilet. If there is fever and/or headache, take one aspirin every four hours during the day. Eat a light but balanced diet.

If the cough persists for more than three weeks you should have a complete physical examination by your doctor who will probably want a chest X ray. Further treatment will depend on his findings. In general, drugs to dilate the constricted bronchial tubes and to loosen thick, tenacious secretions should be given. You should also avoid late hours and loss of sleep until you are well over the attack.

Q—Our grown son had to have a limb amputated because of an osteogenic sarcoma. What are the chances of a recurrence?

A—This is a form of cancer that chiefly affects the long bones. Amputation is the only effective treatment. Whether the cancer will recur depends on whether or not all of it was removed before it had a chance to spread to other parts of the body. This is something neither I nor your doctor can predict. Only time will tell.

Q—I have been taking Aralen for arthritis for about five years. I recently read that this drug can cause partial blindness and that it could cause my bones to get soft. Is this true?

A—Chloroquine (Aralen) has long been used in the treatment of malaria, rheumatoid arthritis and other diseases. Like most potent modern drugs it must be given under close medical supervision. It will not cause softening of your bones but large doses over a prolonged period will cause clouding of the cornea and damage to the retina with a marked decrease in vision. Stopping the drug will result in clearing of the cornea but not of the retinal damage.

Q—In a blood test what does "false postive" mean?

A—In performing any laboratory test an accuracy of 85 to 98 per cent is the most that can be expected. That is why your doctor doesn't base his diagnosis on laboratory tests alone or on a single reading of one. If a blood test for a certain disease is reported positive and your doctor is satisfied that you do not have the disease the test was falsely positive. False negatives are also reported.

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Johnson himself told the story to the congressional leaders at their weekly White House breakfast:

Early Friday afternoon, Aug. 27, he asked his chief congressional liaison man, Lawrence F. O'Brien, to drop into his office for a moment. O'Brien dashed right down.

As he walked into the President's oval office, he saw Johnson reading his news ticker. "Good news or bad news?" asked O'Brien.

Straight-faced, the President turned and replied:

"It's bad news. I'm going to have to get you out of the White House. You've gotten things badly messed up. So I'm making you postmaster general of the United States."

By the President's account, "Larry just stood there and there wasn't a sound out of him."

O'Brien was indeed stunned. Friends say he doesn't remember anything he said in response. He heard Johnson say he could tell his wife and that he should bring her and their son to the LBJ ranch Sunday for the big announcement.

Again from intimates, the word is that O'Brien drifted back to his paneled office, closed the door and sat alone for many long minutes, trying to absorb what had happened. He had had no inkling.

WITH THIS BIT of startling good fun, the President brought off what is quickly proving to be one of the most popular cabinet appointments made here in decades.

From Johnson on down, all those who have had anything to say about it seem to think that Larry O'Brien is "theirs."

Other White House aides hailed the choice, and one or two waxed quite emotional. Hundreds of messages poured into the White House. Members of Congress and key politicians around the country bulked large in the reaction. Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley called it a real "Johnson coup."

Friends and associates of the President seem satisfied that, to a substantial extent, the surface judgments of the move are valid. He simply wanted to keep O'Brien in town, as trusted adviser and helper, to reward him hugely for high service well rendered. O'Brien, of course, has been under heavy pressure to run for governor or senator in his native Massachusetts.

IT IS A PERFECTLY OBJECTIVE statement to say that he is a superior workman, wherever he turns his hand. The late John F. Kennedy gave him fitting accolade for his political organizing talents, and Johnson leaned on these heavily in 1964.

On top of this, O'Brien has been of enormous assistance to both presidents in driving through Congress an unprecedented array of far-reaching, major legislation in the past five years.

To help accomplish this task, he lifted the White House and other liaison efforts to a highly organized endeavor not remotely approached before 1961.

JOHNSON KNEW HIS multiple debt to the man, not alone for his achievements but for his loyalty in staying with the ship after Kennedy was slain in Dallas.

People at the ranch Sunday were aware that the O'Brien appointment was the President's way of telling not just him but others in the White House that faithful but anonymous staff labors there may lead to higher things, not to the deadend street feared by most men of reasonable ambition.

Speculation over the effect of the choice on Johnson-Kennedy relations is not likely to be fruitful. Senators Robert and Edward (Ted) Kennedy were quick with their congratulations, even though Ted badly wanted O'Brien to make a political run next year in Massachusetts. The new postmaster general has always managed to have the full trust of both the President and the Kennedys.

For a good while now, in his new 3-hat job (post office, politics and liaison), he will be mostly the President's man. But O'Brien, as the warm response shows, really belongs to everybody.

'Racial Balance' Theory Under Judicial Attack

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Discrimination against white children or against white teachers in the operation of public schools in America has just been declared to be unconstitutional in a ruling by Judge F. M. Scarlett of the U. S. District Court of the Southern District of Georgia.

The decision strikes a blow at various schemes being offered in different cities in the North as well as the South to create "racial balance" by arbitrarily enrolling students on the basis of color and not educational qualifications.

Judge Scarlett supports his ruling by quoting from decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, and contends that while segregation of school children by race or color is no longer permissible, the assignment of students to schools or classrooms by age, ability and mental qualifications is specifically permitted by court decisions.

The new order also forbids continued discrimination against white school teachers in those areas where college degrees rather than merit have been used to determine compensation.

Judge Scarlett issued his ruling in a case in which the parents of white and Negro children differed on how the public schools should be desegregated. Judge Scarlett says:

"The court takes judicial notice of the fact that in all well regulated school systems at all times school children in general and regardless of race are permitted to progress on a basis of intelligence, ability, achievement or other aptitudes.

"In no case called to the court's attention has it been held that there is an Constitutional requirement that children differing in ages and qualifications be educated together . . .

"Since the original Brown case (Brown v. Board of Education decided by the Supreme Court in 1954) held that only children of 'similar age' and the 'same educational qualifications' are entitled to be classed together in schools under the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment, this court was free to find and did find upon the unchallenged and unquestioned evidence that in order for school children to be effectively educated in Savannah-Chatham County they must be separated and classified as to age and educational qualifications.

"Facts thus established are final and are not subject to reversal. It is the law of this case and the law of the land that separation may not be accomplished by using race and color as sorting criteria, but the law leaves school authorities free to educate school children efficiently without regard to race or color."

Judge Scarlett also relied in his ruling on an official report in 1963 of a research program conducted by the University of Pittsburgh and financed by the U. S. Office of Education. He made this significant comment.

"It reports that the indiscriminate integration of school children by race without regard to diversities of ages and mental qualifications tends to deprive fast learners of opportunities for advancement and to decrease the mean scores of all school children while increasing drop-out rates of slow learners and decreasing chances of college entry by average learners, regardless of the environment of such children."

What the court ruling is aimed at is "en masse" integragation—a movement which is being pressed upon school boards in Northern cities where Negro population is extensive. The theory that children may be transported from one section of a big city to another in order to produce a "racial balance" has been advanced by civil rights groups.

If the ruling by Judge Scarlett is upheld by higher courts, it could mean that no state laws or city ordinances could prescribe a percentage system for enrollment of Negroes or whites in public schools anywhere in the United States. The basis for enrollment and promotion from grade to grade would be solely educational qualifications and tests. If these are applied without regard to race or color, there would be no legal intervention.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

One of the unexciting aspects of the vacation in Haiti was high tea at the home of United States Ambassador Benson Timmons III. Mr. Timmons is a dark, detached man, a Rhodes scholar, Phi Beta Kappa, a State Department economics expert, a man who blinks in light years.

His house is big and white and cool. A tame peacock drags its feathers between the porch and the swimming pool. The world's tiniest orchids grow under the shade of a flamboyant tree. He talked. I listened. His assistants, bright young men who may spend their lives saving one country after another, came into the talk with conversational harmonics.

My mind kept repeating: "What is a fact?" An established truth? A statistic? Yesterday's fact isn't necessarily today's. As the men spoke, lucidly, succinctly, I studied the swimming pool and I recalled that the American ambassador had asked the U. S. State Department for one, and the answer had been no, no and no.

Then the ambassador asked for money for water cachement. It was sent. Now the embassy has a swimming pool. But what is the fact? Is it a cachement tank? Yes it is, and the lawns are watered from it and potable water is stored in it. Is it a swimming pool? Yes it is. Who got what?

In 1963, the Kennedy Administration tried to run President Francois Duvalier out of his own country. Today, the U. S. State Department works closely with Duvalier as the father of a stable government. What is the fact? Do we endorse Duvalier or not? Is he good or bad?

I cannot decide, nor is it my responsibility to exalt or condemn. No one can have a press as bad as Duvalier gets without having earned at least part of it. He is a dark, graying little Negro who did good work as a physician among the poor. Now he is president for life.

I cannot recall having read a kind word about this man anywhere. At least three friends phoned before the vacation to say: "You're not taking the children to that God-forsaken place?" The fact: No tourist within memory has been killed or hurt in Haiti. The children loved it.

A Florida editor phoned on my return to advise me—as a friend—that everything I had written was contrary to the facts. He recited Associated Press dispatches, and United Press International. Duvalier was a hoodlum murderer.

I recalled the two meetings I had with Doctor Duvalier. He had a folk dance and reception at the palace, and he said "It cost too much." The second time, an interview in his office, was immediately after a middle-aged woman left. She had asked for $1500 for a cancer operation. He had given her a roll of bills. The woman counted. It came to $3,000. She returned $1,500.

Duvalier did not mention it, but, among his secretaries, there was speculation about whether he had been stupid in not counting the money, or shrewd in knowing how much was in the pile. The fact? I don't know.

When I returned home, Time Magazine had an article about Haiti. It opened like this: "Some weeks ago, according to a story going the rounds in Haiti, Dictator Francois Duvalier sent a secret emissary to John Kennedy's grave in Arlington Cemetery. There the emissary collected a pinch of earth, a withered flower, and in a small bottle took a sample of air from the graveside. He then returned to Haiti, where he delivered the items to Duvalier.

"Papa Doc, as Duvalier calls himself, wanted them for a voodoo incantation, hoping to imprison Kennedy's soul, make it subject to his will, and thus influence the U. S. State Department's decisions regarding Haiti. The tale may or may not be true. But most Haitians believe it. . ."

Facts? I was in and around Port-au-Prince, Cap Haitien, Milot, Kenscoff, the mountain villages, jungles, the citadelle, and I heard no such story. Nor would anyone have to send a "secret" emissary to pinch earth, a flower and a bottle of Arlington air. On the subject of voodoo, Duvalier is a Roman Catholic, and has a priest-confessor in the palace. He attends Mass, even though some years ago he deported two French bishops for interfering in Haitian politics.

"But most Haitians believe it." How would Time Magazine know this? Practically all voodoo in Haiti is done for tourists, at a price. The article was titled: "Crushing a Country." Fact? Then the U. S. State Department is assisting, by working with Duvalier.

Haiti is the only Negro nation in the western hemisphere. That is a fact. Beyond that I can only say that the babies were fat, the country is in rags, and no one—as Time insists—offered to sell an infant for 40 cents.

The reporter wants more facts than he can use; the novelist wants more liberties than he can take. . .

Not Exactly Gracious Dining

GIs Sacrifice Stomachs To Win Hearts of Viets

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

VINH LONG, South Viet Nam (AP) — America can take pride in the knowledge that her fighting sons in Viet Nam are sacrificing their stomachs to win the minds and hearts of the people.

Best to Eat, Not Ask

They are eating dogs and snakes, elephant ears, monkeys, rats and bats to save face among the Vietnamese and Montagnard troops they have come to help and advise.

"The rule is eat it first, then ask what it is," explained Capt. Ronald Griffith of Roosville, Ga., a district adviser in a remote Mekong River delta area where the garrison gourmet, on any given day, is apt to encounter worms, eels, rice, rats, raw fish and pigeon. "Often it's better not to ask, and it helps a bit not to look at it."

Among Vietnamese troops in particular, lunch in the field is an elaborate ritual. No aluminum mess kits and C rations for them. Invariably, there is a steaming cauldron of chicken soup. The American adviser, always the honored guest, is given the chicken head, a favored delicacy, along with a pair of chopsticks to pluck out the eyeballs.

Primitive Montagnard tribes in the mountain areas are not so ritualistic at mealtime. Their menus, however, are apt to be a trifle more challenging: roast dog, stewed python, fricassee of monkey, all washed down with buckets of rice wine that has been fermenting in bubbling anguish under the grass huts for several months.

Lush Land Helpful

Almost everything that grows in Viet Nam can be eaten. The lush land, blessed with abundant rainfall, abounds in coconuts, bananas, mangoes, peanuts and all kinds of leaves and bushes that make excellent instant salads.

Often you see a Vietnamese patrol moving out, uniformed in jungle fatigues and helmets, with one man lugging a shopping bag full of groceries and another a live duck with the beak tied up so its quacking doesn't betray the action.

In the Viet Cong-infested canals of the delta, a Vietnamese sailor will hop off a River Assault Group boat at low tide to drop a water buffalo, butcher it on the spot and haul it back aboard for a deckside barbecue.

Gracious dining and guerrilla fighting go hand in hand in the inscrutable East, even if the table d'hote selection may not always appeal to the American palate.

"I don't care whether it creeps, crawls or wriggles," insisted Lt. Col. Donald L. Roberts of Port Angeles, Wash., senior adviser to Vinh Long Province in the delta. "Just as long as the Vietnamese eat it, I'll eat it."

Some Forego Feasts

Not all Americans are that adventurous. Some would rather spend a week in the mangrove swamps than sit down with the province chief to another one of those feasts where the courses proceed from roaring red hot peppers and sauteed cuckoo lizard to a big prime rib of water buffalo.

Sometimes there's only so much a man can do for his country.

Sgt. Percy Dedeaux of Pass Christian, Miss., a medic in the Chau Thanh district, was dining one night with a regional force outfit when the Vietnamese company commander ladled a boiled constrictor out of the bubbling pot.

"It just kept coming and coming," recalled Dedeaux, "and that's when I had to call it quits."

Vietnamese want their guests to enjoy their groaning board and are easily offended if the visiting American doesn't dig in with gusto. They are particularly proud of the fish sauce that accompanies almost every meal. Its aroma has been compared to a fertilizer truck running over a skunk in front of a whaling factory in a papermill town.

Most Americans now think nothing of reaching for a handful of thit-bo-kho, jerked water buffalo tidbits, with a bottle of bah-mui-ba, the local lager with a strong suggestion of formaldehyde, the same as they would reach for a fistful of potato chips in a bar back home.

But not many have reached the point where they snag a fat green grasshopper in midair, the way the Vietnamese do, and bite off half of it while the remaining end still wiggles its legs.

S.Sgt. Walben Wagner of Mill Spring, N.C., a radio operator stationed in the lonely Hoa Hoa country west of the delta, summed up the courageous but cautious American approach to Vietnamese vittles. He was asked if he had eaten roast bat.

"If I did," he answered, barely blanching, "it was not advertised as such."

Assured Against Losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — An investment by a private American firm to build a blast furnace in Chile has been insured by the Agency for International Development against losses through expropriation and inconvertibility of local currency.

The firm, the Koppers Co., Inc. of Pittsburgh, Pa., is investing $15 million.

Rumble May Help

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Highway Department is testing strips of rough-surfaced concrete, placed just ahead of rural stop signs, which are designed to produce an audible rumble in cars and make drivers sit up and take notice of traffic signs. The department says the first tests show "definite value" in the idea.

Portugese is the official language of Brazil.

Taxes on Private Auto Sales Bring $824,000 Total

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The sale of motor vehicles by individuals brought in $824,006 in state and local taxes during August, the month in which the state's 2 per cent sales tax took effect.

Such sales are termed "casual" by the State Tax Department, to distinguish them from those made by automobile or truck dealers.

The department said Thursday that of last month's total, $125,703 represented local taxes and would be returned to the respective cities or counties.

The statewide sales-tax plan provides for the state to collect both its own and the local tax. The local share is then returned by the state unit.

No Limit

Although each person can have only one surname, there is no limit to the number of Christian names parents can give to their children.

Bonds Help Roads

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State has sold $72 million in bonds to help finance highway construction, the first such in 6½ years.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 10—This is the time of year when commodity prices tend to strengthen. For the most part, the rise is seasonal, reflecting the quickening pulse of business as autumn nears. This year there is certainly enough zip in the economy to make for a little extra upward pressure on commodity prices. Here is what has been happening to these prices, and what we believe will happen next.

Wholesale Prices Up From Rut

During the past year, strength in commodity prices on balance has been more decisive than for years. The Bureau of Labor's comprehensive wholesale price index recently stood at 102.9. This compares with 100.4 a year ago; 100.6 two years ago; and 100.8 in July 1960. Industrial prices also were fairly stable for some years before they started their present climb. The index for these industrials (which are labeled "all commodities other than farm and foods") recently read 102.5; a year ago it was 101.1; two years ago, 100.8; and in July 1960, 101.2. A somewhat similar price uptilt has been traced in farm products, with this index now at 100, compared with 94.1 last year; 96.8 two years ago; and 97 in July 1960.

Yet, despite the over-all price strength of the past year, there have been significant sags in prices of many individual commodities. Among these are: Anthracite coal, cocoa beans, cotton, rosin rye and wool. Hence it ie vitaly important to buyers and sellers of raw materials—whether agricultural or industrial — to measure carefully supply-demand ratios in both domestic and world markets before making commitments. For, by and large, it is these supply-demand ratios that will principally determine the direction and extent of price movements.

Industrial Raw Materials

Mounting production and transportation costs for industrial raw materials have been more directly responsible for price boosts in this group than has the impact of the war in Vietnam. Supplies generally are fully adequate for requirements in the months ahead . . . except, of course, for certain metals.

At the moment, only a handful of metals markets are in a really strong position, with supplies narrow-to-tight. We foresee higher prices for steel products and possibly also for ingots, for aluminum, and for zinc. But —unless there is a big widening of the war in Vietnam—domestic copper and lead prices will become more vulnerable to downward pressures by late winter. And these downward pressures will come from abroad . . . where markets are already showing weakness.

Farm Products and Livestock

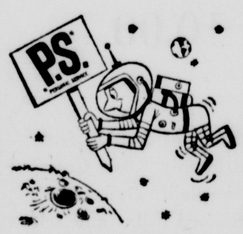

While supplies of selected food items in the 1965-66 season may well be in close balance with requirements, over-all shortages will probably be avoided. Even so, as the season works along, higher prices for foods will become more likely and could even be marked.

Large corn and soybean outturns—still to come — will keep grain and feed quotes somewhat depressed for several weeks more and may even further delay the broad seasonal price recovery which usually gets under way by early winter. However, because of short grain crops abroad and heavy demand here at home, by late winter grain and feed prices should be well above year-earlier levels. Look for more weakness than strength in best-fed cattle quotations and for no more than ordinary seasonal easing in lower grades. Fall setbacks in hog prices will not cut very deep or be prolonged.

Higher Prices Ahead

The price strengthening of the past several months has resulted from rising costs for production, marketing, and transportation rather than from intensity or insistence of upturns in demand. And it has been helped mightily by climbing wages and soaring credit. Actually it is these which have exerted upward pressures on production, marketing, and transportation costs and, hence . . . ultimately . . . on prices.

The uptrend in commodity prices may persist for another six months. Beyond that, they may have trouble holding UNLESS the war in Vietnam has expanded enough by then to trigger shortages not now anticipated.

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Will you please tell me the correct way to mop my kitchen floor, without removing the wax? I'm sure other mothers would like this same answer.

MOTHER

I don't know how often you mop your floor, but I take it that since you state that you have children, it is probably washed every day or so . . .

The main thing about mopping a floor, is to be sure that your mop is clean! Dirty mops spread the soil. Are you aware of that?

Mix up a good bucket of soap suds, to which you have added a little bleach. It's even better if you use your plastic wastebasket, and get it cleaned at the same time. Let the mop stand in this NOT over 15 minutes.

Rinse the mop well under your hot water faucet, then turn on the cold water faucet, and wring out the mop.

Never, never, never put your hands in hot water when you don't have to!

Water is not supposed to get down in "squares" of asphalt tile.

Neither do you want a mop that is too well wrung out, because it will streak the film of wax!

In "B-tween" thorough waxing jobs, if you want to do a touch-up wax job, try mixing half hot water with your wax—if you use the liquid type. Also, when doing these touch-up in-between jobs, there is no need to put wax in the corners, etc. Just put wax on the "high" spots where there is the most traffic.

As soon as you finish mopping your floor, wash that mop then. The soil will be far easier to wash out. Too, this will save you washing it before using it the next time. This may take a minute today, but will save you two minutes the next time, because fibers in the cotton strings are already thoroughly wet, and the dirt will float out easily. And, think of that dab of soap and all the hot water and energy you'll save tomorrow . . .

Aren't clean mops nice?

HELOISE

Dear Heloise:

I made darling curtains for my bathroom window from nylon net and nylon lace.

The net curtain permits flow of air when the window is open, and the curtains dry quickly if they have become dampened by steam.

Traverse rods should be waxed with paste wax while drapes are down for airing or cleaning.

The drapes will be easier to pull back and forth, and are much less likely to stick.

When icing a layer cake, I cover one side of the bottom layer, then turn it DOWN on the plate. I find that by having the bottom of that first layer iced, the cake stays moist and doesn't dry out.

Not only that, but when the cake is cut, there is icing on both the top and bottom, making a slice of cake look prettier.

Bonding Fabrics Idea Will Grow

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the newest and fastest growing developments in the textile industry is bonding fabrics.

That means joining two fabrics, or a fabric and another material, back-to-back by adhesives.

Consumers buying clothing, draperies and many other textile items are going to encounter bonded fabrics more and more.

Got Going in 1958

The idea of bonding got going in 1958 when manufacturers joined foam to other materials, mainly for outer wear such as ski clothes.

In 1961, bonding of fabric to fabric was introduced. From 1961 to 1964 the number of yards of bonded fabrics that were cut in the United States grew from zero to 100 million. Industry spokesmen predict that for 1965 between 200 million and 300 million yards of bonded goods will be cut.

In 1961, only four or five companies were attempting to master the technique of bonding. Today there are several score companies bonding fabrics in the United States and abroad. The biggest of these companies is Coin International.

Coin has developed a bonding process which it licenses to textile producers in the United States and Australia, Austria, Benelux, Brazil, Denmark, France, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Spain and the United Kingdom.

Advantages Listed

What are the advantages of bonded fabrics?

H. King Cummings, president of Coin International, cites these.

Strength and wearability — two are stronger than one.

Stability — loosely woven fabrics and knits are stabilized, made workable, by bonding.

Shaping — bonding gives shape to loose woven or knitted fabrics that previously stretched, sagged or sat-out.

Pressing and pleating — bonding makes possible permanent press and pleating on a wide variety of fabrics hitherto untreatable and untailorable.

Wrinkle resistance — soft-handed fabrics, ranging from velvets to cashmeres, can be made practically wrinkle-proof by bonding to a proper second fabric.

Lining — bonded eliminates labor of cutting and sewing of linings.

Extension of fabric uses — bonding makes possible almost unlimited end uses for old fabrics such as burlap, bonded to, say, muslin; provides an attractive new wall covering or drapery; high fashion fabrics, bonded, can be used for footwear.

Added warmth — bonding enables the creation of new lightweight cold weather fabrics.

Sees Judge Helping Murphy

Wicks Says Schirick Opinion On Surrogate Race Politica!

Former State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, who also was chairman of the Ulster County Republican committee, replying today to a statement by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick in which the latter mentioned two candidates as being qualified for the office of surrogate, says the judge's comment appears to be politically motivated.

Judge Schirick was quoted as saying in his Thursday statement that "both Arthur A. Davis Jr. (Republican) and Vernon Murphy (Democrat) are well qualified to fill the position." Davis and Maurice Goldberg seek the GOP nod by primary vote, and Murphy is Democratic candidate.

Asked today by a Freeman reporter if he had anything to say about Judge Schirick's statement, Senator Wick's replied, "I sure do," and continued

"Arthur Davis must be desperate when he secures the help of a Democrat to suggest to Republican voters of Ulster County who they should vote for in a Republican primary. This is the first time in my memory that such a thing has ever occured. I feel that we Republicans of Ulster County are quite able to choose the man we want to vote for without any inferential suggestion from a Democrat.

It was noted in the article dealing with Judge Schirick's comment, that he had once given his support to Republican Roscoe V. Elsworth for a Supreme Court judgeship.

Dealing with that Senator Wicks said:

"With reference to Judge Schirick's support of Judge Elsworth, let me call your attention to the fact that Judge Elsworth was running for a second term, and May I add that when Judge Schirick ran for a second term, I supported him.

"It is a well known fact that Judge Schirick is most active in promoting the Democratic candidacy of Vernon Murphy for surrogate. The only reason that he could throw an apple of discord in the midst of the Republicans is because he must feel that somehow there will be an ultimate benefit to his Democratic candidate."

seem to be improbable".

At the time of inspection by the Air Pollution Control Board conditions in the East Kingston area were bad. Where 40 is assigned to mean normal, clean air and 135 the dirtiest air, the area near the cement plant in East Kingston was assigned 118, indicating that the air pollution in the East Kingston area "is certainly nearer the dirtiest than it is to the clean classification," the report states.

Meeting Planned

The Selkirk cement plant, the report noted, is operated far more efficiently as concerns air pollution.

It was recommended that the committee on air pollution and members of the County Health Board meet with officials of the Hudson Cement Company and discuss the matter to seek if the company would be "willing to be good neighbors enough to attempt to reduce the pollution of air for that which was found on testing, even prior to the enforcing regulations that are expected in March or April of 1966."

The report closed with a statement that in the past "too many hollow promises were made without performance" and a suggestion that of other cement mills can be operated without the nuisance which exists here, the local company "ought to be able to function with the same efficiency.

You can hold most toads without danger of infection if there are no cuts on your hands.

School Vandalism

school district spent some $3,600 in a few months to replace panes of glass that had been smashed in city schools.

The board approved Trustee Pepper's motion to authorize McLean to employ a man to patrol the school grounds in an effort to eliminate the vandalism.

Mrs. Robert D. Fescoe of East Chester Street Extension, speaking for parents of that district, asked the board to provide improved bus service for kindergarten pupils to Chambers School. Trustee Pepper informed the delegation appearing last night with Mrs. Fescoe that the matter would be brought up at a special meeting of the transportation committee slated for Sept. 28 at 7:30 p. m.

To Study Distance

Meanwhile, Dr. Hoover will consult with James E. Tobin, assistant superintendent of schools for pupil personnel services and transportation, and a study will be made of distances between the pupil's homes and Chambers School.

Dr. Hoover reported that all schools in the consolidated district opened on schedule Wednesday with a minimum of problems. He praised his assistants, school principals and teachers and the non-professional staff for their cooperation.

Dr. Hoover said the enrollment as of Thursday was 9,988 and he added, "it is definitely certain the enrollment will go over 10,000."

Sculpture Art Reported Gone From Gallery

If anyone sees a 30-inch tall sculpture work that weighs about 50 pounds, a Lomontville sculptor would like it back.

The person who took it, however, might not have as willing a conscience as he has an appreciation for art.

At any rate, Miss Alice Duncan of Kingston RD 3, professional sculptor and creator of the work, reported the object stolen last week from the Mari Galleries in Woodstock.

She described the work as an archaic figure made of Italian marble and pale yellow in color. The theft is being investigated by police.

Rochester to Get $5.2 Million as Zerox Trust Fund

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The University of Rochester ultimately will receive a $5.2-million trust fund that has been established by Joseph C. Wilson, president of the Xerox Corp.

The firm, which produces photocopy equipment, said Thursday Wilson had initiated the transfer of 30,000 Xerox stock shares into a trust fund. He and his wife will receive the income from the fund until their deaths.

At that time, the fund and income will be turned over to the university.

The establishment of the fund coincides with a $38-million capital-fund drive headed by Wilson for the university. Wilson graduated from the university in 1931 and is chairman of the school's board of trustees.

Indian Troops

Indian forces captured five important posts and took 150 Pakistanis prisoner, the Indian government radio reported.

The Indian broadcast said Indian units had "severely punished" Pakistani forces on the southern front, more than 200 miles east of Karachi, Pakistan's biggest city and major seaport. There was no indication whether the Indians had advanced in this area, however.

India claimed it had destroyed 114 Pakistani tanks in the fighting so far. The government radio said Indian units have "knocked out nearly one of the two Pakistani tank divisions."

Pakistan claimed a total of 35 Indian tanks knocked out, along wth five ammunition vehicles and four Jeeps in the Sialkot area of Kashmir.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant talked peace with Pakistani officials in Rawalpindi for the second day, but there was no indication from either side of a retreat from conditions the two governments have set for the cease-fire demanded by the U.N. Security Council.

Pakistan demands that India agree to hold a free self-determination vote in Kashmir. Since most of the state's population is Moslem, the Pakistanis figure the Kashmiris will vote to join Moslem Pakistan.

India, still adamantly contending that Kashmir is Indian territory, demands that the Security Council name Pakistan the aggressor and that the Pakistanis give up all territory they have taken.

Three air raid alerts sounded in New Delhi before dawn. The government radio claimed one enemy plane approached the capital but was driven off. No damage was reported. It was the third consecutive night of air raid sirens.

Plans Progress

the lowest at $1,110.90. Two bids were submitted. A bid for an industrial tractor with landscape loader and plow, with a trade-in on a John Deere 1952 tractor, was awarded to Davenport Implement Co. The bid was $3,-623.40, less $345 trade-in, or $3,278.40 actual cost.

The board approved a resolution to change the title of the office of director of pupil personnel services and transportation to assistant superintendent of schools for pupil personnel and transportation. James E. Tobin, incumbent, will continue in that office at his present salary.

The board approved Donald E. Sweeney's service as coordinator of the Title II B Program for under-educated adults under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act, with the understanding that the classes will be held in the evening and on Saturday mornings. The coordinator's compensation for these special duties will be paid from the federal grant which supports the program.

Late Bulletin

Teachers Accept

NEW YORK (AP)—The executive committee of the United Federation of Teachers voted 42-3 today to accept a contract offered by the board of education.

Alfred Shanker, the teachers union president, said that the package was "the best teacher agreement we have ever negotiated or has been negotiated in the United States."

He declined to elaborate, but did say there were major breakthroughs in major areas.

The acceptance headed off a strike by the city's 48,000 public school teachers on opening day Monday—unless a rally of the union membership this afternoon rejects the contract offer, a development considered unlikely.

Father Divine

"super heaven" at Greenkill Park.

The steamer State of Delaware from New York City docked at the old Stone dock on Rondout Creek at Kingston and the followers were conveyed by cars, buses and on foot to the vacation site.

An Associated Press report today said his worldwide Kingdom of Peace included both Negroes and whites among its members and was based on a credo of communal living, celibacy and unquestioning personal honesty.

Kept Age Secret

Divine kept his exact age secret, but his long-time attorney, Austin Norris, said Divine was around 100 years old. Norris, who announced the death, noted that Divine was married for the first time in 1882.

The attending physician, Dr. Joseph A. Wagner, said death was caused by arteriosclerosis after a mild diabetic shock.

Divine's last public appearance was on the 17th anniversary of his marriage to his second wife—a 21-year-old white, Canadian stenographer. She is his only survivor.

Norris said Divine had been disabled for at least a year, and that Mother Divine—his wife—had been keeping the organization going "just as if he was living." Divine died "without a cent belonging to him. All the money was in the movement," Norris added.

Died at Retreat

Death came at the movement's palatial suburban retreat—"The Mount of the House of the Lord."

The story of Father Divine, according to outsiders, probably began with birth of George Baker on a Georgia rice plantation in the 1860s.

Father Divine never talked about his background, and attorney Norris once said "George Baker is the name given him by his enemies."

Apposed Segregation

Father Divine is heralded among Negroes particularly for his unflinching opposition to racial segregation. He married his second wife in 1946, three years after the death of his first wife.

The marriage to Edna Rose Ritchings—known as "Sweet Angel" in the movement—took place secretly in Washington, performed by a Baptist Minister. It wasn't immediately disclosed because, one associate confided, "the marriage was such a world-shaking event it might have made the followers vibrate strongly enough to destroy themselves."

The story of Father Divine, frequently beset by legal troubles and once interrupted by jail, is one of belief mixed with superstition and the supernatural, of faith wrapped up in filling an empty stomach.

Good Provider

"Father will provide" was the byword of his Kingdom of Peace. And according to his followers he did—spiritually and materially.

The bulk of the members of Divine's movement—no official count was kept—are Negroes. There are numerous whites in the organization, but no one would make an estimate, since race, creed or color is not recognized.

Followers frequently discard family names, although not by edict. They take such names as Miss Charity, Job Patience, Angel Glash, Peaceful Samuel, etc.

Money in Movement

Followers are not permitted to go to the theater or movies. They can't smoke, drink or use cosmetics. Obscenity is prohibited and there is no undue mixing of the sexes. They accept no gifts or tips.

Followers put their money into the movement. There is no membership fee, no christening ritual. Rooms at mission hotels are provided for as little as $5 a week. Meals cost about 35 cents, although some may eat free.

His peace mission movement, established in the early 1920s, was able to amass property worth $10 million or more.

Tests Are Started In Death of Actress

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Time-consuming laboratory tests have been started to determine what caused the death of Negro singer-actress Dorothy Dandridge, says the county coroner's office.

She was found dead in her apartment Wednesday. An autopsy revealed no indication of foul play or violence but also provided no conclusive leads to the cause of death, the coroner's office said.

Private funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday

Rock Is Thrown At Jewel Store, Break at Tavern

Local police today investigated what could have been a burglary attempt or malicious mischief at Saccoman's Jewelers Inc., 576 Broadway, and a burglary at Ten Grand Tavern, Grand Street and TenBroeck Avenue.

A rock had been used to break a rear window and door at Saccoman's and a burglar alarm was activated. Police found no indication that the building had been entered. Similar damage was found at the rear of the building some time ago.

Entrance to the Ten Grand Tavern was gained by a rear door. An unknown amount of money was reported taken from three vending machines.

Capture Shows

away both the pistol and the holster it was in. Armed with the gun, he fled into the street.

He went to John Street where he reportedly tried to commandeer a taxi cab for a fast ride outside the city. Driver Earl Finch, who refused, told later how what seemed to be a toy was jammed into his head and that he heard two "clicks."

The trail then led to another vehicle on Fair Street where he reportedly tried to force a ride from that driver, Clifford G. Smith, of 604 Kiersted Avenue, president of Smith-Parish Roofing Co. Inc. Smith refused. The escapee fled on foot into the confusion of later afternoon uptown traffic.

Police feared that he may have fled by car and was out of town. Road bocks were set up. All available police personnel from the three agencies were presed into service when it was learned that a jail inmate had escaped custody, and was armed.

But night time did not interrupt the action too long.

A truck driver said he was stopped by a man answering McKinney's description and asked for a ride to New York City. He told him that he wasn't leaving until later — and called police.

A tip from the Stuyvesant Hotel concentrated the activity from that area toward the Senate House Apartments where Deputies Frank Neri and Ernest Ahlberg spotted the man believed to be the escapee and gave pursuit by car.

A shotgun blast from Neri's weapon split the pre-dawn air. The shot, it was reported later, grazed the eluder's hips.

Concentrate Search

The action then shifted to the Kingston Shopping Plaza where it was believed the escapee may have headed into the yard of Kingston Lumber Co. with its maze of hiding places. Flood lights converted the area into a spectacular pattern. State Police bloodhounds added to the melodrama.

By dawn, most of those in the search had put in almost two day's work. There were coffee "semi-breaks" and the rubbing of tired eyes, but daylight revealed an array of men armed with weapons along railroad tracks, behind corners, in the streets.

By morning, news of the escape was one of the most talked about things in the area peppered by spectator conversation. But the police kept at it.

Then a call to police headquarters. The 12:10 p. m. notation read, "Received call from Officer Colbert (off duty) who required assistance as he has suspect spotted in the Clinton Avenue-Pearl Street area. All units alerted including State Police and Sheriff's Department.

"Chief Murphy reports subject apprehended by Officer Whalen and William A. Krum, 39 Mary's Avenue, at rear of Park Diner parking lot. Assisted by Officer Weston Hoffay, subject turned over to Ulster County Sheriff's Department."

Sheriff Candidate

Krom, who coincidentally is a Republican candidate for Ulster County Sheriff, said that McKinney exchanged shouts with his confronters. They asked him if he had a gun. When he said he didn't, the captors moved into the swamp and brought in their man.

McKinney told authorities that he threw the deputy's pistol away when he left the dentist's office. However, Sheriff Bell said, the gun was found later. He said it showed two unsuccessful attempts to trip the hammer. That immediately recalled the earlier taxi cab incident on John Street and those "two clicks" Finch said he heard at the side of his head.

Bell said the pistol was sent to the state police laboratory in Albany for examination.

Both Bell—who said his men were now the "subjects of criticism"—and Murphy emphasized that all of the activity occurred within a relatively short distance from the escape scene.

Chief Murphy, who estimated that some 80 men from the enforcement agencies had been mobilized into the dragnet, said that the entire area around McKinney "was sealed off within five minutes" after Colbert's report and notification of all forces.

Cites Criticism

Sheriff Bell said, "He was held within a certain area" during the entire time of the manhunt. But, he said, "We're getting a lot of criticism from the outside about the escape and subsequent seach.

Asked to elaborate, he said he referred to radio broadcasts which seek public comment anl opinion.

As for the conduct of the manhunt and the efforts put into it by individuals or agencies, he said, "I don't think anyone should be singled out."

Which is probably one of the reasons people in the Kingston area slept better last night.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Gertrude M. Krom, who passed away 4 years ago today, September 10, 1961.

We do not forget her,
We love her too dearly
For her memory to fade
From our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak
When our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells
Where it seldom is seen.

Will Use Papal Throne for First In 115 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — For 115 years a gold-painted Victorian chair has stood in readiness at the residence of New York's Roman Catholic cardinal.

It will get its first use next month when Pope Paul VI visits the United Nations.

The chair is a papal throne, built in 1850 by the city's first cardinal, John McClosky. It was the custom for each cardinal to prepare a papal throne in anticipation of a visit by the Pope.

Pope Paul's visit Oct. 4 will be the first by a pontiff to the North American continent. The Pope will visit the United Nations, where he is to address the General Assembly and offer a mass for world peace.

He will sit on New York's papal throne when he visits Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, at the cardinal's residence.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Sept. 10, the 253rd day of 1965. There are 112 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1813, Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, leading a fleet he had built in the winter of 1812-13, defeated a British flotilla off Put-In-Bay, Ohio. His report said tersely, "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

On this date:

In 1608, John Smith was elected governor of the Jamestown Colony in Virginia.

In 1894, the United Daughters of the Confederacy was organized at Nashville, Tenn.

In 1917, voters in the State of Maine rejected woman suffrage by a large majority.

In 1940, Nazi planes damaged Buckingham Palace.

Ten years ago — France agreed that a sovereign state would be set up in Morocco, tied to France by an act of "interdependence."

Five years ago — The State Department announced that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would not be permitted to leave Manhattan Island during his visit to the U.N. in New York City.

One year ago — Ambassador Maxwell Taylor returned to Saigon, leaving a conclusion that war with Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam would not be ended in the foreseeable future.

COMPLETES COURSE—Lt. Col. Frank Fabbie, right, commanding officer of the 1st Battalion (105, SP) 156th Artillery, N.Y. Army National Guard, congratulates Capt. August R. Schrowang Jr., liaison officer, on completion of the nuclear weapons employment officer's course held at the U.S. Army Artillery and Missile School in Fort Sill, Okla., Aug. 23- Sept. 3. Capt. Caldor Reports Earnings, Sales Set New Records

Caldor, Inc., a promotional department store chain, today reported sales and profits for the first half of the fiscal year ended July 31 and the Board of Directors, reflecting the record-setting first half, voted a 1 for 4 stock distribution of the company's common stock.

Carl Bennett, president, said net earnings for the first half increased 63.2 per cent and sales increased 42.8 per cent, both setting new first half records for the 14th consecutive year.

Caldor announced plans some time ago to build a new store in the Lake Katrine area, off Route 9W.

The Board of Directors of Caldor, meeting in Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 7, voted the stock distribution payable Oct. 22 to stockholders of record Sept. 24.

Bennett said per-share earnings for the first half rose to an adjusted 39 cents a share from 25 cents a share a year earlier. Bennett said the per-share increase was achieved despite a 15.9 per cent rise in the number of shares outstanding due to a five per cent stock dividend and the conversion of a large number of convertible preferred stock to common stock during this period.

Net earnings climbed to $505-228 from $309,512 for the first six months last year. The promotional department store chain had sales in the first half of $20,-047,057, compared to $14,037,-178 for the same period last year. Earnings before Federal Taxes were $899,513 compared to $565,884 a year earlier.

Caldor presently has eight promotional department stores and two furniture marts in operation and has five department stores and seven furniture centers either under construction or in the planning stage.

Four of the new department stores, in Northampton and Westfield, Mass., Kingston and Manchester, Conn., will be part of Caldor shopping centers which will include Caldor furniture marts TBA (tire, battery and auto accessories) centers and garden shops.

The fifth new department store, a 240,000 square foot unit in downtown Stamford, Conn., and the largest in the Caldor chain will have 120,000 square feet of selling area on two levels and two floors of roof-top parking. The Stamford store is scheduled for opening in November.

Trump Lead Beats South

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

South was one of those players who believed that declarer should draw trumps first and study the hand later.

He let the opening club lead run around to his ace and promptly led out his queen of spades.

East won trick with the king and although it is usually good tactics not to play the suit led by one's opponents East took his ace of spades immediately and then led back a club. Declarer won with dummy's king; ruffed a club and led his jack of diamonds toward dummy. West rose with his ace and led the suit back.

Eventually declarer had to go after the heart suit himself and had no way to avoid the loss of a trick there.

Declarer complained about duplication of values because dummy's king of diamonds turned out to be worthless but he really failed to give the hand the correct play.

He should have led his jack of diamonds toward dummy at trick two. West would have won the trick with the ace and at that point it would be up to West to lead a trump if he wanted to beat the four spade contract.

If West did that, it would be unusual indeed. Most Wests would just lead a second club whereupon South would take dummy's king, cash the king of diamonds, ruff the last club and then lead a trump.

East would be on lead and would either have to give declarer a ruff and discard or lead hearts himself, whereupon declarer would be able to avoid the loss of a heart trick.

Real Morale Boosters

Utica Third Graders Sent Letters to GIs in Viet

By WILLIAM LOWTHER
The Utica Observer Dispatch

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A Marine known as "Doc," fighting in Viet Nam, wrote to a class of third-graders in Utica:

"The hearts of soldiers here are with you. We love you."

Two months ago, the nine-year-olds at St. Agnes School posted 33 letters to "American Soldiers, Viet Nam."

Over 20 Reply

"Doc" is one of more than 20 American soldiers who replied from the jungle battle front.

A typical letter from Utica said:

"Dear American Soldier: I am proud of your bravery, even the soldiers who are unknown are forgotten. You went over to Viet Nam to protect us in the United States — Your friend Mary."

The children's letters reached the Army Information Service and then the front page of The Army newspaper, The Observer, published in Saigon.

Sister Rita Shawn proposed the letters to Viet Nam.

"The main purpose was to boost the morale of soldiers," she said. "I am so tired of hearing about college students demonstrating against our boys out there that I just had to do something."

"Doc" wrote that he was not very good at expressing his feelings, but he said "this letter is not to a group of children, it is to a class of third grade men and women of the next generation."

"A lot of college students should go to grade school again and you young people belong in their place.

Heart-Warming Words

"Never before have I read such heart - warming words from such young people."

All the children said they were praying for the American fighting men.

At least three Uticans fighting in Viet Nam read the letters.

Thomas P. Rahauiser, an Army radio operator, described them as a "real morale booster."

In a letter to his parents, Ensign Dan Jeff wrote:

"Bless those little kids."

And Col. Ben W. Legare of the Information Office in Viet Nam wrote:

"General Westmoreland, our commanding officer, asks me to send you his appreciation for your encouragement and prayer."

Third grader David Lopiccola said, "I bet the soldiers were surprised to get our letters. But we pray for them every day."

His friend, Dominick Alsbermer, added:

"They probably thought no one was thinking about them."

"Sometimes," said Sister Rita Shawn, "it takes little children to help grown ups remember what their duty is."

More for Small Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Small brsiness firms have received $5.305 billion in defense prime contract awards during fiscal 1965, a White House report says. This is $463 million more than the total for the previous year.

To Pick Appeals Candidates Next Week in Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Candidates for a seat on the Court of Appeals, the state's highest court, will be picked here next week by the Democratic and Republican state committees.

The office of Democratic State Chairman John J. Burns said Thursday it would name its candidate next Thursday, while GOP State Chairman Carl Spad said his party would make its nomination Friday.

The vacancy in the seven-member court will result from the retirement of Associate Judge Marvin R. Dye of Rochester, who has reached the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Dye is a Democrat. The court's present makeup is 5-2 in favor of Democrats.

Neither party, apparently, has reached a decision on a candidate, although several names have been mentioned by each. The most frequently heard name among Democrats is State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, although the party's legislative leaders are said to be resentful of his criticism of their leadership of the 1965 session.

The Republicans are thought to be considering Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and Presiding Justice Alger A. Williams of the Appellate Division for the Fourth Judicial Department.

The Court of Appeals will represent the only statewide office on the ballot in this November's election.

Associate judges of the court are paid a total of $45,000 annually in salary and expense allowances.

'Budget Is Too Small' Says Beauty Queen Representing New York State This Week

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

The musical strains of "I Ain't Got No Money" reached Kingston loud and clear via a report released by a national news agency. It concerned the plight of lovely Marlene Lorraine Butcher, our Miss New York State, who is in Atlantic City, N. J., this week preparing for the Miss America finals.

According to the report, Miss Butcher is unhappy with the $500 cash allowance received for contest expenses. Other state queens, it seems, receive elaborate wardrobes and professional talent coaching. Not so for the Hamburg, N. Y., beauty.

The news agency also reported in its story that Mrs. Theodore Just, mother of last year's New York State title winner, said accumulated expenses of last year's competition "left us floundering financially."

A spokesman for the Dunkirk-Fredonia Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored this year's upstate beauty contestant, is reported to have stated that New York has never won the Miss America title and "we probably won't until we give the girl the help she deserves."

No State Help

Helen Davenport, vice president of Pageant, Inc., sponsors of the state competition in this city told me this morning: ". . . it should be pointed out that some of the state governments give their queen a special allowance — and some of them are very ample.

"Here in New York State, we have repeatedly asked the governor to include this type of promotion in the budget and have been refused each time."

Mrs. Davenport also stated that the $500 allowance is used on a wardrobe for the winning state queen. The wardrobe is purchased at wholesale prices thus increasing the actual retail value. "Her gown, for example, is worth at least $550 retail," Mrs. Davenport said.

Albert Kurdt, executive director of Pageant, Inc., along with John W. Lawson, president and Warren Schoonmaker, vice president, are now in Atlantic City, N. J.

An official statement from them on the subject is expected when they return.

Miss Butcher, current state queen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Butcher of Hamburg, N. Y.

According to her official information blank, her father is a shipping clerk. Miss Butcher is a sophomore at State University in Fredonia and was Prom Queen and Miss Class of 1964. She wants to be a teacher.

Argentine Group At New Paltz After Lincoln Center Date

The autumn music season at State University College, New Paltz, will open Tuesday evening, Oct. 5, with a concert in the College Theater by the 100 member chorus of Argentina's National University of La Plata.

There will be no charge for tickets, but reservations must be made at the College Bookstore.

Two weeks earlier, the University Chorus will appear at the Lincoln Center's First International Choral Festival in Philharmonic Hall. The week-long festival at the center will bring together 800 students from 20 universities in 16 countries to sing some of the best known choral music as well as popular folk music from each country.

The Argentine group will sing Sept. 22 and again at the closing concert that Sunday when the choral group will join the others in such presentations as "Gaudeamus Igitur," "My Lord What a Morning'," and Bach's "Dona Nobis Pacem," from the Mass in B Minor. The Sunday evening performance at Lincoln Center is sold out.

The Argentine chorus was founded in 1942 at the time of the Yale Glee Club's first visit to South America. The University from which it comes has more than 50,000 students, and has faculties in the sciences, humanities, law, medicine, business and the arts. The chorus is headed by Roberto Ruiz, who also conducts the Camara Orchestra of La Plata and acts as Artistic Director of the Argentine Theater of La Plata, one of the major theaters in Latin America.

AAUW Announces Topic for Study During Next Year

Revolution in Modern China will be the subject for this year's study by the Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Every two years, the AAUW announces four topics as the focus of its program for the next biennium. The topic chosen by the Kingston Branch was from this group and was voted on by the membership.

A program committee has been at work throughout the summer designing the outline for study which includes Chinese education, philosophy, economy, family life and other facets of their culture. These will serve as subtopics to facilitate study and evaluation of the Chinese problem.

The sub-topics will be presented at each of the monthly meetings starting in November. Guest lecturers will speak to the membership. In addition a study group will be formed to supplement monthly meetings.

The program committee is directed by Mrs. Kirland Snyder, chairman, assisted by implementation chairman, Mrs. Othman Abu-Gheida. Other members of the program committee include area representatives Miss Frances Carducci for community affairs, Mrs. Frank Hoornbeeck for cultural affairs, Mrs. Harry Matzen for educational affairs, Mrs. Dorothy G. Wilson for world affairs and Mrs. Neil Whitehurst, resources.

EDUCATIONAL MATERIALS PROVE POPULAR—Youngsters are always delighted with the equipment in the Fair Street Nursery School. Opening on Monday, the school is planning four classes for three and four year old children. Mrs. Benjamin Emerick is head teacher.

Fair Street Nursery School Opens Monday

The Fair Street Nursery School, 209 Fair Street, Kingston, will open Monday, Sept. 13. There will be four classes for three and four year old children; two morning classes from 9:00-11:30 and two afternoon classes from 1:00-3:30. Mrs. Benjamin Emerick will continue as head teacher and Mrs. Lincoln Christensen will be coming back for her sixth year as a teacher.

Fair Street Nursery School has been in operation since 1950. More than a thousand three and four year olds have been given the opportunity of this fine preschool training. The Fair Street Nursery School is the only one in the area registered and accredited with the New York State Department of Education.

The school stresses the education of parents as well as the pre-schoolers who attend every day. Being a co-operative school, mothers work one morning every two weeks assisting the teacher. They have an opportunity to observe their child working in a group and also to learn by observation how various behavior problems may be handled. The teachers also hold orientation sessions to acquaint parents with the objectives of the school and to show them what course of action to take when they are co-operating. Group conferences are held several times during the year for the purpose of airing problems common to many children of this age. Individual conferences deal with specific problems. The education of parents continues with several evening meetings for parents which feature speakers of note in the field of early childhood education. A well-stocked library on early childhood is also available to parents.

The Fair Street Nursery School is a non-profit, non-sectarian co-operative, founded to provide developmental educational experience for three to five year old childrn. The school is sponsored by the Fair Street Reformed Church.

St. Peter's Troop Has Camping Trip

Junior Girl Scout Troop 24 of St. Peter's School in Kingston recently took advantage of the facilities at Camp Wendy, Wallkill, for an overnight camping trip.

The scouts planned ahead for this test of their skills in the outdoors at a meeting previous to the trip in order to be prepared as capably as possible. Most of the group had never slept out in tents so far from home. They soon discovered any knowledge they had on conservation, first aid, sanitation, fire prevention and resourcefulness in coping with the problems of tent life is especially valuable. They had swimming, hiking, campfires and group singing, games and observed the habits of creatures inhabiting the woods.

Junior Scouts attending included Jo-Ann Aumand, Jill Becker, Jean Carroll, Rosemary Dittus, Patricia Nagy, Barbara Aumand and Francine Nucaro. Miss Elizabeth Schupp and Miss Carol Dittus assisted Mrs. John Dittus, leader of Troop 24. Daniel Dittus also accompanied the scouts. Those who assisted in supplying transportation were Mr. and Mrs. William Aumand and John Dittus and Robert Dittus.

Leader Training Sessions to Start On Monday Evening

While designed primarily for new leaders, the session will be open for troop committee members, service team members, or any experienced leaders who feel they will benefit.

The first session will include songs, and simple games and fun type activities, as well as an overall look at the aims and purposes of Girl Scouting. Each session will include a breakdown for discussion of activities on each age level.

Dear Abby . . .

It's Strange!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Boy, do I need help! I am writing this from Honolulu, Hawaii, where my bride and I are spending our honeymoon. The reason I have time to write to you is because my bride of four days is busy right now writing THANK YOU notes for our wedding gifts! Don't you think if our friends receive thank you notes written by my wife on her honeymoon trip, they will wonder if she is normal?

NEWLY WED

DEAR NEWLY: No. They'll probably wonder if YOU are.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you've seen those cartoons of the impatient husband waiting for his wife to finish dressing. Well, it's just the opposite at our house. No matter what time my husband says we shall leave, we are always late. We have not once, since our marriage 26 years ago, been on time anywhere. This includes starting off for a plane or train. When he calls from the office to say he'll be home in "a few minutes," it can be anywhere from 15 minutes to 2 hours. Believe it or not, he is a successful doctor! He never offers a definite excuse. He was always "tied up." When our married children invite us for dinner they start without us and we eat reheated leftovers. They say, "Daddy is always late." How can I cure my husband of this irritating habit without staying home and punishing myself as well?

DOCTOR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If you haven't been able to "cure him" in 26 years, pronounce him incurable and learn to live with it. A successful doctor needs patients. A successful doctor's wife needs patience.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my continued friendship with my ex-mother-in-law. My husband's three sisters cannot understand how I can be so friendly with the mother of the man I divorced. She was more like a mother to me, Abby, as I was only 15 when I married her son. She is the only grandmother my children have ever known, and they adore her. She is a fine, religious person, and I can't quit loving her because I am no longer her son's wife. I am even friendly with my ex-husband because of the children. My sisters-in-law tell me if I had any love or respect for their brother I would break off the friendship with my ex-mother-in-law. It would be hard for me to do, but if you think I should, I'll try.

TORN

DEAR TORN: Your husband's sisters are troublemakers. Maintain your friendship with your former mother-in-law, and more power to you.

Three Important Dont's On the Telephone

When the number you get is evidently wrong, don't ask, "What number is this?" Ask instead, "Is this Main 2-3456?"

Don't answer and then say "Wait a minute," and keep whoever called you waiting while you vanish on an errand of your own. If the doorbell is ringing and you can't listen at that moment, say "I'll call you back in a few minutes." And do so.

Don't let too young a child answer the telephone. A lot of the caller's time is wasted trying to make the child understand a message and relay it to the right person. If there is a long silence, there is no way of knowing whether the child is hunting for mother or playing with his dog, quite forgetful of the caller on the telephone.

Q: I will be attending a wedding shortly. I don't know the bride personally but the groom is an old friend. I would like to know if it would be proper to choose a gift that will be for his own personal use and send it to him, or must all wedding presents be sent to the bride and be something that she can use?

A: Even though you are an old friend of his and have never met the bride, your present should be sent to her—unless you send two presents, one in courtesy to her and one in affection for him. Friends of the bridegroom often send things suitable for him, such as a decanter or a rather masculine-looking desk set, which are sent to her, but are obviously intended for his use.

Son of John Smith, 2nd

Q: Will you please answer the following question which is causing quite an argument in our family? If John Smith, 2nd (named for his uncle) has a son and calls him John Smith, is the son Jr. or third?

A: The son of John Smith, 2nd, is John Smith, 3rd, not Jr.

A Plaid Cummerbund

Q: Will you please tell me if a plaid cummerbund may be worn with a tuxedo?

A. Usually (and most formally) a black or maroon silk cummerbund is worn with a tuxedo, but a plaid one is quite all right, especially in the summertime.

Ulster Savings Lists Winners Of Art Exhibit

The winners of the sixth annual Art Exhibit of the Ulster County Savings Bank have been announced by Howard C. St. John, bank president.

First prize winner is Robert L. Strickland of Fairview Avenue Extension. Last year, Strickland's exhibit entry was awarded third prize. Another repeat winner this year is Mrs. Kay Bell of Holiday Lane, who has taken second place honors for two years. Her entry was awarded second prize last year and again this year. The third prize winner is the Rev. Albert H. Shultis, 120 Henry Street. Each winner will receive a cash award from the Ulster County Savings Bank.

The annual exhibit in the bank lobby is composed of pictures entered by members of the Ulster County Art Association. This year the exhibit enjoyed its largest number of entries numbering 29 paintings. Many of the members have entered paintings each year, but this year an increasing number of new member's names appeared on the entry list.

During the two weeks that the paintings were exhibited in the bank lobby, hundreds of bank patrons viewed the various paintings and voted for their favorite. Winners were chosen by the number of votes cast by these patrons.

The three paintings that were chosen as this year's best are now on display in the front window of the bank where the are being viewed with great interest by the sidewalk traffic.

Sandy Koufax Becomes First Pitcher With 4 No-Hitters

'Not My Best Game,' Says Happy Koufax

Fourth No-Hitter Not His Finest Sandy Thinks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was Sandy Koufax' finest hour — a perfect game and the fourth no-hitter of his major league career.

He retired all 27 batters to face him as the Dodgers bested the Chicago Cubs and the one-hit pitching of southpaw Bob Hendley, 1-0, before a crowd of 29,139 Thursday night. Koufax struck out the last six batters in a row and 14 in all.

But though the baseball world hailed Koufax and his historic victory — the first time in the majors that a pitcher achieved a fourth no-hit game — Koufax himself shrugged it off as not quite his best game.

His opponents found it hard to agree.

Koufax has always felt that his third no-hitter, the one he pitched last season at Philadelphia, was the best game of his career.

"I had the best fast ball in the last three innings that I've had all year and also the best control," said the 29-year-old left-hander after Thursday's game at Dodger Stadium, "but the no-hitter at Philadelphia was equally big."

"He was just great — it was beautiful," said Chicago veteran Ernie Banks. "He was getting the curve over real good the first five innings, then he got tremendous momentum. I thought he might weaken some later on, but he just kept throwing the ball right on through. And he was throwing strikes."

Champagne From Boss

Dodgers owner Walter O'Malley had a bottle of champagne delivered to Koufax in the clubhouse and is expected to reward Sandy with a bonus for becoming the first major leaguer ever to hurl four no-hitters—and only the eighth since 1900 to notch a perfect game.

When Koufax pitched his other no-hitters—against the Mets in 1962, the Giants in 1963 and the Phils last year—O'Malley came up with an extra $500.

"I thought this was the best of all his no-hitters," said Dodger Manager Walter Alston.

Koufax, now 22-7, struck out 14 batters, including the last six in a row, to break a personal three-game losing streak and deal a heartbreaking loss to Hendley, 2-3.

The Cub left-hander allowed only two runners to reach base and would have matched Koufax's no-hitter except for a two-out bloop double by Lou Johnson in the seventh inning.

Only two other pitchers since 1900 had hurled as many as three no-hitters: Denton (Cy) Young and Bob Feller.

Koufax leads the majors in victories with 22 and in strikeouts with 332 in 290 2-3 innings.

Dodger Southpaw Blanks Cubs, 1-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sandy Koufax' perfect game — and fourth no-hitter — kept the Los Angeles Dodgers in a tie for second place and kept Koufax one step ahead of San Francisco's Juan Marichal in the battle for most victories in the National League.

Marichal won No. 21 in a day game at San Francisco, keeping the Giants in first place as he checked Houston on four hits in a 4-0 victory. It was the 10th shutout of the season for Marichal.

Then Koufax went out and pitched his perfect game against the Chicago Cubs in a 1-0 victory, posting his 22nd victory of the season — and his first after three straight losses since Aug. 14.

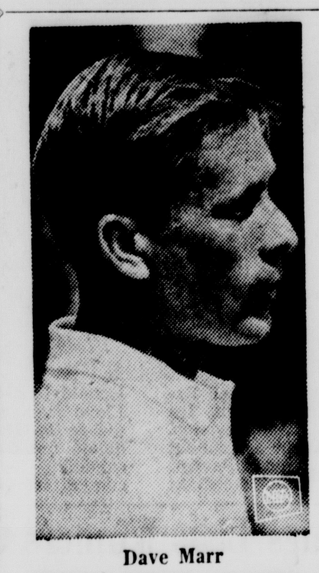

Marichal's triumph kept the Giants one-half game ahead of the Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds, who remained in a tie for second place with a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets. Fourth-place Milwaukee fell 2½ games back after being rained out of a game against Philadelphia.

The Giants, winning their sixth straight, jumped into a two-run lead in the second inning on a walk to Willie McCovey, a triple by LenGabrielson and Tom Haller's sacrifice fly.

Haller hit a homer in the fifth and the Giants closed out the scoring in the same inning when Dick Schofield doubled and scored on Jesus Alou's single to deep short.

The Dodgers, who collected only one hit off Bob Hendley, scored in the fifth inning when Lou Johnson walked, was sacrificed to second, stole third and came around on the play when catcher Chris Krug threw wild.

The Reds pulled into a 2-0 lead on Deron Johnson's homer in the fourth inning but the Mets tied it in the eighth on Roy McMillan's two-run single. Tony Perez then won it for Cincinnati with two out in the ninth when he lofted a homer over the center field wall.

Player Picks Jack Nicklaus

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Open champion Gary Player, shaking his head in disbelief over the thought of someone pocketing $50,000 for winning a 36-hole playoff, picked Masters' champion Jack Nicklaus as the man to beat in the World Series of Golf.

"No doubt about it," said Player, "Jack's the boy to beat on this course."

Player said the massive 7,180-yard Firestone and Bellerive in St. Louis, where he captured the National Open, "are two of the toughest courses you can find. The course is in magnificent shape and it should be a good tournament."

Aside from Player and Nicklaus, PGA champion Dave Marr and British Open titlist Peter Thomson will be shooting for the total purse of $77,500 with second place worth $15,000, third place $7,500 and fourth place $5,000.

The four contestants play a practice round today to time themselves for television as well as to get a feel of the course.

The extravaganza takes place Saturday and Sunday with the final six holes of each round televised nationally (NBC) from 4 to 5:30 p.m. EST. In case of tie for first place, the sudden death playoff will begin at the 15th tee.

Player, who turned over his $25,000 check for winning the U.S. Open to the Cancer Fund, commented that $50,000 is an awful lot of money "especially for a guy who used to give lessons for 50 cents. And if you think giving 18 lessons a day in order to earn nine bucks isn't tough, try it."

With Clete Boyer making like Pie Traynor at third base amid the 1965 Yankee shambles, the Bombers decided not to bring up Mike Ferraro of Kingston with the Sept. 1 migration from the minor league systems.

Instead Mike has been ordered to Sarasota, Florida to play in the 10-team Winter Instructional League. They play a 54-game schedule during October and November.

Mike's Columbus, Georgia club won the pennant in the Double A Southern League by one percentage point on the last day by beating second place Ashville, 7-0. Twice injured in the final month, Mike missed several games. He finished with a .253 average, led the club in doubles, was second in runs batted in and hits.

Next year's spring training circuit will find Mike at the crossroads. The Yankees are confident he can make it.

• It Just Occurred to Us:

The Old Timers Baseball Association, and specifically John J. McCardle, have lost a real friend and influence in the New York Mets organization with the departure of John Geis from the public relations department.

As of Sept. 15, the personable Geis switches from the Go-Go boys to New York University as sports publicity director. There was an excellent camaraderios between McCardle and Geis, who arranged for two Kingston appearances and worked out the laborious details for the highly successful Kingston Day at Shea Stadium last June 13.

• Some Irreverent Thoughts:

Can anybody give us one compelling reason why that Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson "thing" should be permitted in Las Vegas or any place else in the universe. We say this even though Floyd is a newly arrived neighbor in New Paltz. We became disenchanted with Floyd when he raced across the country in the dark of the night equipped like Agent 7 ⅜s with dark glasses, false beard and whiskers following one of those earlier "things" with Sonny Liston.

There will be no sad songs in this department for the early demise of the New York Yankees. We understand Dick McCarthy and Fred Davi are arranging appropriate memorial services.

Did Bess Chilson and her three partners finish one-two-three in the Member-Guest tournament held recently at The Twaalfskill Club?

"If Floyd Little isn't the best halfback in the country," says Syracuse University football coach Ben Schwartzwalder, "then someone must be hiding out a lot of fellows I haven't heard about." But Floyd isn't going to eat his hat like those folks in that television commercial.

If anyone has information leading to the identity of the winners of the 100-lap National Champion Oilzym race and the 150--Lap Langhorne qualifier at Ontaora Speedway Park, please notify us at once. We hate to keep the kiddies in suspense.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Harold (Clancy) Van Aken's protestations notwithstanding, we have come to the conclusion that Bill Van Aken is the best player in the Van Aken family . . . Two of Wiltwyck's top golfers—Ronnie Marks and Brian Smith—may be among the missing by the time the 1966 season rolls around. Marks is heading for Boulder, Colorado with that migration of IBM employes, while Smith is pondering a transfer to Anchorage, Alaska . . . Rev. James Cook of the Overlook Methodist Church of Woodstock hits the golf ball out of sight, but admits a few minor difficulties with his short game . . Two of my Ohayo Mountain Road neighbors in Woodstock—M. Leslie Denning, the retired Wall street tycoon and Fritz Werner, nationally famous portrait painter—(how about that for name dropping?) already have purchased ringside seats for Bruno Sammartino's triumphant return to Kingston on Sept. 28 even though the card has not yet been announced . . Peter Koegel, 18-year-old outfielder, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Silas O. Van Etten of Saugerties was signed to a Kansas City Athletic contract personally by president Charles O. Finley. He will be with the parent club for the remainder of the season. Amount of the bonus received was not disclosed.

The Bunnies of Playboy Magazine have voted the Michigan University Wolverines as the collegiate football team most likely to succeed in 1965. In our set we view that ringing endorsement as proof positive the Ann Arbor lads can't miss.

The Minnesota Twins, riding high in the saddle, appear past the final hurdle as they head for their first American League pennant since the club was moved to the Midwest.

The Twins have a fat seven-game edge over second place Chicago today following a two-game sweep of the White Sox. Each club has 19 games remaining and any combination of 13 Minnesota victories or Chicago defeats, delivers the flag to the Twins.

Third-place Baltimore, 7½ games back, actually is better off statistically than the White Sox. The Orioles have 22 games left and Minnesota needs any combination of 14 victories and Oriole defeats to end Baltimore's chances.

And not only do the Twins have that fat lead, but 14 of their remaining 19 games are against the American League's second division. Minnesota plays five against Baltimore, but that's more than balanced by five against California and three each against Boston, Washington and Kansas City.

Hall is Hero

Jimmie Hall, who homered in each game, was the hero of the sweep against the White Sox. The Twins squeeked by Wednesday night, 3-2, and then whacked four Chicago pitchers for a 10-4 decision Thursday.

In the only other American League game Thursday, California defeated Kansas City 7-2.

Hall whacked three hits including his 20th homer for the Twins who sprayed 15 hits around Comiskey Park. Sandy Valdespino also had three safeties for the Twins.

Willie Smith was the hero for California, unloading a bases-loaded double that drove in three runs against the Athletics. Bobby Knoop had three hits and Ed Kirkpatrick a home run as Fred Newman cruised to his 12th victory.

Drysdale Upsets Ralston In National Net Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — A tall South African who gulps salt tablets and hits a backhand like a portside Mickey Mantle is the newest threat to Roy Emerson's title in the National Tennis Championships.

He is Cliff Drysdale and his credentials include an upset quarter-final victory Thursday over America's No. 1 Davis Cup ace, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., who was seeded third.

Drysdale's 2-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 8-6 triumph helped strip the tournament to one lone American — Arthur Ashe, the 22-year-old Negro from Los Angeles, who played Emerson today — and raised the possibility of the second South African in history to gain the finals of this 84-year-old grass court event.

Eric Sturgess from South Africa went to the last round in 1948 when he lost to Pancho Gonzales.

To Play Osuna

Drysdale likes his chances since he is bracketed against Mexico's Rafael Osuna, the 1963 champion, to whom he's never lost.

Osuna qualified for the semifinals by beating the up-and-down Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5. Pasarell was just a shadow of the player that had eliminated second-seeded Fred Stolle of Australia.

The rest of the men's field catches up today when Ashe played Emerson — 'I think I can win," the skinny Californian said — and Antonio Palafox of Mexico faced Manual Santama the Spaniard who crushed America's Davis Cup hopes.

The women play for semifinal berths, and there appears no stopping Wimbledon Queen Margaret Smith of Australia, who blanked Justina Bricka of St. Louis 6-0, 6-0, and second-seeded Maria Bueno, the defending champion.

Miss Smith played Francoise Durr of France, while Miss Bueno took on Carole Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio. In the other half of Miss Smith's bracket, Nancy Richey of Dallas played Norma Baylon of Australia, and Britain's Ann Haydon Jones opposed Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif.

Miss Richey beat Tory Ann Fretz of Hollywood, Calif., 6-2, 6-4. Miss Durr won over Janie Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., 6-3, 4-6, 7-5. Miss Baylon erased Judy Tegart of Australia 7-5, 6-4.

Buffalo, Denver and Oakland Picked to Win AFL Openers

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Buffalo's defending champion Bills will record the first victory of the 1965 American Football League season.

The Denver Broncos will record the second.

The Houston Oilers will record the third.

And the Oakland Raiders will record the fourth.

Your Practically Peerless Prognosticator is at it again, albeit in a pinch-hitting role, on the eve of another pro football campaign. Fortunately, YPPP can concentrate his powers of divination on the AFL, since the National Football League still has another weekend of exhibitions.

Here are the predicted outcomes for the first week's games in the sixth AFL season:

Buffalo 24, Boston 14 Saturday night — The Bills won the league title last season with virtually the same line-up — the big change, of course, steady Billy Joe instead of controversial Cookie Gilchrist at fullback. The Patriots, fresh from an 0-5 exhibition performance, may have as many as six rookies on their two starting teams. Buffalo appears too ready for Boston.

Pick Broncos

Denver 28, San Diego 10 — Gilchrist and halfback Abner Haynes, new Broncs but old AFL hands, may be out to prove something in this one — that the Bills and the Kansas City Chiefs made mistakes dealing them off. Denver isn't exactly quarterback-rich with the Mickey Slaughter-John McCormick combination, but the Chargers' John Hadl has to be really on to put his team in command. San Diego's fine fullback, Keith Lincoln, is out with a pulled leg muscle.

Houston 38, New York 21 — A lot is new for the Oilers — a new coach, Bones Taylor, and a new park, Rice Stadium. But old George Blanda probably will be the key in this one, with his passing and kicking. Houston was 5-0 in exhibitions, showing a fine defense and a very good running back in Ode Burrell, subbing for the injured Sid Blanks. The Jets have an inexperienced quarterback, Mike Taliaferro, a sub-par receiving corps, and a doubtful defensive secondary among their soft spots. Additionally, Jet-star Matt Snell missed the preseason games with a knee injury and could very well be off-form in his running.

This game at Houston will be televised nationally at 1:30 p.m. EST by NBC.

Oakland 24, Kansas City 21 — The Raiders are heavy in rookies, and the quarterbacking of Tom Flores and Cotton Davidson isn't devastating. But they can fling 'em long, Art Powell and Bo Roberson can go get 'em, and Clem Daniel is a nice type to have carrying the ball for you. Quarterback Len Dawson and the steamrolling Curtis McClinton-Mack Lee Hill tandem head a solid Kansas City team. But the Raiders are eager.

Giants Obtain Swain From Lions

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings traded linebacker Bill Swain to the New York Giants of the National Football League Thursday in exchange for a middle-round draft choice next year.

Swain had been placed on waivers Tuesday by the Vikings, When several clubs indicated interest in him, Minnesota withdrew him from the waiver list and made the trade with the Giants.

The former University of Oregon player, purchased by the Vikings from the Los Angeles Rams last season, started for Minnesota the last half of the 1964 season after Bill Jobko suffered a broken arm.

BATTING — Tony Perez, Reds, hit a two-out homer in the ninth inning that gave Cincinnati a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets.

Indians Have Strong Line, Young Backfield

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Though he's missing three starters from a star-studded backfield which accounted for 222 points in 1964, Onteora Central football coach Paul Jordan isn't exactly crying the blues.

The Indians have experience and size on the line and also have speedster Gary Murphy returning in the backfield as they put their 11-game winning streak on the line at Red Hook on Sept. 18.

Last year's Onteora team was a coach's dream. The club swept through eight opponents and was scored on in only two games while compiling six shutouts.

Several Key Losses

However, quarterback Hugh Speljaric, halfback Charles Harewood, fullback John Phelan, center Mike Gallagher, tackle Lindsay Hoyt and guard Dan Daughtrey are missing. Though all were invaluable, the loss of Phelan will probably be felt the most. In addition to his skills as a runner, Phelan was the team leader in every sense of the word.

Jordan is in good shape up front. Veterans Fred Pettinato at end, Gary Beesmer and Ray Cocks at tackle; Mark Hoyt at guard and Chuck Howland, shifted from tackle to center figure to tough.

John Mower was the leading candidate at quarterback until he injured a knee. This forced Jordan to move veteran end Wes Kissel to the signal calling spot. Harry Miller, a guard in '64, is at fullback. Murphy returns to his halfback slot if he gets over a foot injury, there aren't any faster backs in the UCAL.

Backing up Pettinate at left end is Joe Eisenbeil. With Kissel switched to the backfield, the right end position is being contested by Chet Gaede and Byran Kelly. Ron McLeod is also a candidate.

Bart Guglielmetti, Larry Hughson, Ward Todd and Ed Ocker are tackle candidates behind Beesmer and Cocks. Dale Chauncey, a promising sophomore, figures to play at the other guard position. Paul Goins, Frank Raffaldi, Jon Carr and Fred Wagner are also in contention.

Howland has to beat Larry Murray, Dan VanValkenburg and Doug Sharp at the pivot.

Charlie Moore and Alan Gordon show good promise at quarterback but lack game experience. In addition to Miller and Murphy, halfback hopefuls include Rod Daughtrey, Pete Glass, John Howland, Charlie Fredericks, Gary Houseman, Mike Bellows and Alan Cocks.

A Marked Club

With their winning streak, the Indians figure to be a marked club this season. Top contenders in the Ulster County League are Highland, Pine Bush and Liberty and Onteora doesn't meet them until later in the year. This will give the youngsters to get some needed game experience.

At any rate, though the Indians will not be the powerhouse they were in 1964, they are still the team to beat.

A capsule comment:

STRENGTH—Size and experience of the line and the running ability of Gary Murphy at halfback.

WEAKNESS — Possible over confidence and inexperience in the backfield.

OFFSENSE—Multiple T.

22-1 Shot Grabs Big M Feature

MONTICELLO — A rousing stretch drive by Charles Norris Jr. brought 22-1 shot Cotton Cloud a neck victory over High Basis in the feature fifth race at Monticello Raceway Thursday night, a $1,500 two-year-old pace.

Norris, sitting sixth in the seven horse field at the half-way point, began making a move with his Hayes Counsel colt approaching the three-quarter station and by the head of the stretch was fourth on the outside behind High Basis, Harley's Horse and Success York.

Norris moved the youngster, owned by Jimmy Wingfield of Leesburg, Ga., four-wide coming around the final turn to make his challenge and he closed steadily with Cotton Cloud, finally nipping High Basis, reined by Wendell Carroll, at the wire, in a nifty 2:08.2, a new record for the colt.

Cotton Cloud paid $46.20, 10.60 and 6.80 in the first leg of the twin double. High Basis returned 4.00 and 3.20 and third place Harley's Horse rewarded backers with a 3.80 show price.

See Lucky was an early scratch in the race.

The twin double returned $9,165.40. Winning combination was 8-6, 4-2. The Perfecta paid $109.80. Winning combination was 3-7.

A crowd of 2,986 was on hand to wager $207,766.

Drysdale Gets Rich 500G Offer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale says he is considering a rich offer to play baseball in Japan. The big question is could he accept?

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick was not immediately available for comment, but baseball experts said Drysdale could not play in Japan unless:

—He was voluntarily retired by the Dodgers; or —His club gave him an unconditional release; or

—He was sold to the interested Japanese club.

The chances of the Dodgers voluntarily giving up their No. 1 righthander are slim. Drysdale is earning an estimated $75,000 a year. He has won 18 this season and is headed for a 300-inning pitching season for the fourth year in a row.

Could Be Banned

An unauthorized jump to a Japanese club might bar him and his new owners from organized baseball.

The report of a $500,000 offer to Drysdale to pitch for an unidentified Japanese team appeared Thursday in a copyright story in the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner.

Assistant General Manager Arthur (Red) Patterson said "Don has told us of no such offer. Our interest right now is in the tight pennant race."

The story gave these details:

Drysdale refused to confirm the figure, but called it "fabulous" and said it covered a period of three years or more.

"The offer is of such proportions that my wife, Ginger, and I both agree it is something we must consider," said the hurler, now earning an estimated $75,000 a year with the Dodgers.

"But my only thought now is winning the next game and every one we can—then the National League pennant and the World Series.

"Before I do anything I will discuss it first with (Dodger owner) Walter O'Malley and (General Manager) Buzzie Bavasi, as I have everything.

Taken Care of Don

"They always have taken care of me and my family and naturally my allegiance is with them. Everything I have I owe to the Dodgers."

Drysdale added "My first consideration is my family, to see that it is protected financially. My second is to play as long as I feel I can do the job.

"I want to stay in baseball and my one hidden desire is to manage," he added.

Drysdale said he is keeping the offer on ice until he has time to investigate it this winter.

Friday night he goes after win No. 19 against Houston

Would his next year's Dodger salary affect his consideration of the Japanese offer?

"I would not be telling the truth if I denied that my contract here next year would have a bearing," he replied.

TV Reviews, Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Yvonne De Carlo, the lady vampire with the Theda Bara makeup who is such a loving wife to Herman of CBS' "The Munsters," recently took delivery on a new Jaguar sedan — gleaming black, low slung, discreetly expensive-looking.

Before she put key in the ignition, however, it was sent to a custom bodymaker, who promptly added silver rails in a coffin-handle motif around the roof, installed a bat insignia on the front, substituted hub caps that look like spider webs, and painted a realistic blood-red line around the body.

Miss De Carlo, who was a beautiful motion picture star long before she donned her Lily Munster wig of long black hair and went in for make-up that looks like mortician's mauve in one light and arsenic green in another, plans to use the vehicle as her personal means of transportation.

"I think it will be fun," she said. "In the old days, motion picture stars acted like stars. They dressed in attention-getting costumes. When people saw them, they knew they were looking at a movie star. I think that what this television business needs is a little more of that — the ladies with the ocelots of the gold chains."

Miss De Carlo may be right. Nowadays it's hard to tell a television star from his business manager when they are having a luncheon conference — and the stars often seem much more interested in their investments than their art. Discussions with women stars often revolve about the difficulty of getting a housekeeper who is good with children.

Even Miss De Carlo, in making her one-woman strike for a return to off-stage dramatics, is being practical.

"There's not a thing going on that can't be removed the minute I get bored with it," she confided.

The table is set and, starting Sunday, network television will start serving its new season bill of fare. First, however, will come a few hors d'oeuvres.

Tonight CBS will present an hour special, "Americans on Everest," (7:30-8:30 EDT) showing pictures shot during the climb of the world's highest mountain peak.

"The Miss America Pageant" will be televised live by CBS on Saturday night (10-midnight), with Bert Parks singing that song, and the big emotional climax as usual.

On Sunday, "Meet the Press" will pop up on NBC at 1 p.m., ABC will present an adventure film special, "Hercules" (7-8) CBS' "Perry Mason" will move into its new Sunday time period (9-10) and Ed Sullivan (8-9) will start his new season by presenting The Beatles — and Soupy Sales.

Then, too, on Sunday there is NBC's annual live telecast of television's Emmy Awards show (10-11:30).

The television famine is over: it's feast time.

Resnick Will Speak At Suffolk Dinner

Featured speaker at an annual dinner planned by Suffolk County Democrats Saturday night will be Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, D., 28th District, New York. The black tie affair will be conducted at the Mid-Island Country Club in Brookhaven, L. I. Approximately 1,100 persons are expected to attend, including Suffolk County Congressman Otis Pike, and other county leaders including Eugene Nickerson, Nassau County Democratic leader.

On Friday morning Rep. Resnick will attend hearings on trading stamp legislation introduced by Congressman Lester Wolff, Kensington, N. Y. The hearings are set for 10 a. m. in New York City (30 Church Street, Hearing Room C, 14th floor).

Edie Adams Says There Is Time For Everything

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is a time to work and a time not to work, observes Edie Adams, whose career is again going full steam.

The talented blonde was subjected recently to an almost inhuman schedule. She reported early for treatment in the Paramount glamor lab, then put in a full day of emoting in "The Oscar." Afterward she rushed to a helicopter that set her down in Anaheim, where she romped through her nightly performance in "Can Can."

I asked her when she slept.

"Who sleeps?" she replied. "I'm planning to do that next Wednesday."

The double booking was an accident. "The Oscar" came up in a hurry; it offered her a chance for some real dramatics; she couldn't resist. "Never again," she vowed.

Edie was taking momentary ease in the den of the house she shared with her late husband, comedian Ernie Kovacs. It is a fantastic room — "all Ernie," she describes it. All about are crazy antiques and comic props. Musical instruments abound, and the room is wired for studio-like sound. A trap-door leads to the wine cellar.

"I think we'll sell the house and let this room go furnished, except for my harp," said Edie. "It is time to move on."

Despite her hectic professional life, Edie is philosophical. She figures there is a time for everything.

After Ernie died in an automobile accident Jan. 13, 1961, it was time for her to work — not only to heal the sorrow of his passing, but also to untangle the chaos of his financial affairs. She managed to pay off all debts unaided. A year ago she married Marty Mills of the music publishing family.

Edie could work the year-around in films, television, night clubs and theaters, but she chose to suspend her career for a six- month period. Why?

"Because of the girls," she explained, referring to the three young ladies of the family. "It was the advice of every headshrinker I talked to that I should close down all my activities and devote time to them. They needed a firm hand, someone to say 'no' to them and to back it up.

"And it worked. The girls came around and now they are no problem."

Farmhand Killed

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A farmhand was killed Thursday when a hay elevator fell on him at a farm in nearby Pamelia.

The implement crushed Francis Sherman, about 35, as he and David Jackson, the owner of the farm, were moving it from a barn to a field, the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department reported.

Cousins Suffocate In Refrigerator

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Two young cousins, trapped in a secondhand refrigerator, were suffocated Thursday despite efforts to revive them.

Police said the 3 - year-old boys had been missing about 1½ hours before they were were found in the refrigerator at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Donald.

The O'Donald's son, David, and a cousin, Robert Lanchi, died at St. Mary's Hospital here.

An aunt, Miss Elaine O'Donald, said the refrigerator was not connected to an electrical outlet.

Eastern States Fair to Feature Teen Idols Show

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. —It's all "a-go-go" at the Eastern States Exposition this year as the teenage "jet-setters" come into their own with a special show designed for them Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 20 and 21.

The show in the Exposition race track infield will feature such teen idols as the Beau Brummels, Jerry Green and the Passengers, and Pearlean Grey.

Called the "Big D Jet Set Round-up," the show is sponsored and produced by Hartford's radio station WDRC and will be held each afternoon at 5:30 p. m. During the first hour, the various entertainers will perform and there will be dancing during the second hour.

An earlier plan to charge no admission and have a teen show featuring records was changed when it was decided the "jet setters" would prefer to have top name live entertainment, even if it meant paying for it, in preference to records they could listen to at home.

Truck Kills Flagman

NYACK, N.Y. (AP) — A 49-year-old flagman with a repair crew on the State Thruway was killed Thursday when struck by a truck.

The man was identified as Anthony Natale of Haverstraw.

Frank Hoeffner, 21, of Montgomery, the driver of the vehicle, was charged with drunken driving and released in $150 bail to await a hearing.

Dies of Injuries

Bishops Reject Heresy Charges Against Pike

EAST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church have rejected heresy charges against Bishop James A. Pike of California.

In a side issue the Episcopal leaders refused Thursday to allow Bishop Pike to ordain a woman deacon. The bishop withdrew his plans for the ordination, which would have been the first in the 3½-million-member church.

The Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, presiding bishop of the church, said Bishop Pike and others who agree with him probably would be subjected to more criticism.

"It's part of the hazard of the ministry," Bishop Hines said, "but you can't cry when some one takes pot shots at you."

Bishop Hines said the achievements of this year's meeting "were not spectacular but they have been constructive."

"The controversy over Bishop Pike has drawn this house closer together in recognizing the individual bishop's freedom and responsibility."

A church spokesman said the meetings were open except for the nomination and election of the Rev. William Davidson, Jamestown, N.D., as bishop of the missionary district of western Kansas.

Next year's meetings will be at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 30-Nov. 3

Although Bishop Pike was not upheld in his proposal to elevate a woman to the office of deacon, he was happy with the resolution rejecting the heresy charges against him.

Escapee Nabbed In Buffalo on Hospital Visit

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — FBI agents and State Police, acting on a tip, nabbed a 30-year-old escaped convict from Florida Thursday night as he chatted with a friend in a hospital corridor.

FBI agents said Willie Thompson Brooks, was wanted in Florida for escaping from a state prison in 1957. He was serving a life sentence, they said.

Brooks was arraigned before a peace justice in suburban Hamburg and ordered held for Florida authorities. He was charged with being a fugitive and unlawful flight to avoid confinement.

Brooks' wife lives in Caledonia in Livingston County, troopers said.

Three Appointments Made by Governor

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today appointed James D. Taylor Jr. of Fayetteville to the Saratoga Springs Commission.

He also reappointed Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm and Maurice Rosenfeld of New York City for five-year terms on the non-salaried unit.

Taylor, 49, a contractor, succeeds the late Jerome D. Barnum of Syracuse. Taylor's term will end June 30, 1970.

All three appointments are subject to Senate confirmation, but the appointees may serve in the interim.

The commission supervises operation of the Conservation Department's Saratoga Springs reservation.

Two TV Stations Will Telecast School Courses

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State University will take an initial step in October in a long-range educational television program with the broadcast of courses on Albany and Buffalo stations.

The university trustees said Thursday three non - credit courses would be offered, with full-credit courses by the same stations to begin in February.

University President Samuel B. Gould said the university had planned to offer college-credit courses this fall, but because the Legislature did not provide the funds until June, planning was set back.

Gould and Board Chairman Clifton W. Phalen also reported that:

—Dr. Edward E. Mueller was approved as dean of the College of Ceramics at Alfred University at an annual salary of $20,420. Mueller had been director of ceramics research for the Glidden Co. in Baltimore, Md.

—An experimental program is under development that would provide two years of technical and vocational training for "disadvantaged youth" from New York City and Upstate cities.

—About 30 persons representing State University were recalled from Indonesia in July.

NAACP to Hear Party Candidates For Mayor's Job

RAYMOND W. GARRAGHAN

It has been announced that Ulster County Branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will hear Kingston mayoral candidates at two different meetings.

At the first session next Monday night in Foxhall Avenue AME Zion Church, Raymond W. Garraghan, Democratic candidate, is scheduled to speak at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Leonard Van Dyke, wife of the Democratic alderman of Kingston's Sixth Ward, acting as publicity chairman, said there will be a question and answer period after the speaker finishes.

She said she thought questions will pertain to Garraghan's views on civil rights and that he will be asked about accepting endorsement of the Conservative Party.

Mrs. Van Dyke said Albert C. Kurdt, Republican candidate, will be asked to speak and answer questions at the October meeting of the NAACP, composed of approximately 200 members, of which Everette Hodge is president.

Candidate Garraghan is president of the local oil company bearing his name, president of Kingston Travel Service, a member of the advisory board, First Trust Company of Albany; past president Kingston Kiwanis Club, a member of Kingston Council, 275 Knights of Columbus, and an executive board member of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Supervisors . . .

"absolutely obnoxious" to the people of the state and charged that it "invades the taxing area of local government and it is destruction of Home Rule".

The resolution brought forth loud protest and was called by Supervisor Banyo "political maneuvering" by Majestic who is the Democratic candidate for State senator.

Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), Plattekill, noted that the legislature was not in session now and there was nothing that should be done at this time. He called the resolution "crude." Martorana moved to table the resolution and it was seconded by Supervisor Douglas Dye (R), Town of Kingston.

The motion of table the Majestic resolution was adopted 17 to 16.

A resolution to grant office space to the Community Action Committee in the new county office building was approved 27 to 6.. Supervisor James A. Rapp, who offered the resolution, said the committee had been formed by action of the Board of Supervisors and the space in the building would be considered a part of the county's contribution to the work.

Noting that Rosendale Cement is celebrating its 135th anniversary, making it one of the oldest manufacturing firms in Ulster county, Supervisor Majestic presented a resolution calling for the use of "blended cement" in the construction of public works highways and bridge abutments. Blended cement is roughly one bag on natural (Rosendale) cement to five bags of Portland cement.

Answers Kennedy On School Blast

NEW YORK (AP) — The director of one of the two state schools for retarded children criticized by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said the senator had made "a distorted, exaggerated and very destructive attack" on the school.

Dr. Jack Hammond, director of the Willowbrook School on Staten Island, said Kennedy had spent only 90 minutes touring the institution and picked out "a few frames from a series of flash pictures."

Kennedy said Thursday children in the schools at Willowbrook and Rome are worse off than animals in a zoo. He called the surroundings "a new snake pit."

The office of acting State Mental Hygiene Commissioner Christopher F. Terrence, said in a statement that the mental hygiene department and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had "long been aware of the difficulties faced by state schools as a result of overcrowding and understaffing stemming from rapidly increasing populations."

His office noted that the 1965-66 state budget included an increase of $6 million to create 1,700 new staff jobs in state schools.

Waiting in Jail On Talking Count

George Washington Minard, 28, of 37 Lawrence Street, who police said had talked with a prisoner from outside jail, wound up there himself Thursday.

A local police report at 7 p. m. noted that a charge of communicating with a prisoner had been lodged against Minard by Deputy Sheriff Ernest Ahlberg. Minard is charged with having talked to a prisoner from the Crown Street side of the county jail.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman, after Minard had pleaded guilty, today postponed sentence to Sept. 17 to permit time for a presentencing investigation. Bail of $250 was not posted and Minard was returned to jail.

Two persons were arrested here in 1964 for communicating with prisoners. Before that it was a rare charge locally.

Convince NASA

of these places and windup never sleeping during the dayside because you hated to miss anything," Cooper said.

Both pilots felt they were pretty good housekeepers.

"We were very proud to bring back a clean spacecraft," Conrad said. "It took us eight days to do it."

Cooper said he had warned Gemini 7 pilots Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. "stowage and housekeeping will be their No. 1 problem."

Much of the 120-orbit flight was spent drifting in a powered-down condition to hold electricity usage to a minimum and prevent an overload of water from the fuel cell.

"We would be remiss if we didn't say we got a little frustrated on the fifth, sixth, and seventh days.." Conrad said. He pointed out that often they would try to observe targets on the ground and the craft would be drifting nose upward and "we wouldn't see anything but black sky."

Cooper said "at no time did we feel any ill effects. In fact, I felt considerably better on this flight even than I had felt after the MA-9 flight, which I personally feel was due to the fact that at all times we had an excellent drinking water system."

Now the first man to ever take two orbital space flights, Cooper referred to his 34-hour Mercury flight in 1963.

Of the trip to the moon, a newsman asked:

"Do both you men consider yourselves potential candidates?" Cooper laughed and turned to Gilruth and asked: "You want to answer that?"

Conrad injected: "How 'bout that, doctor?"

Gilruth then said. "If I was going to say anything other than yes. I wouldn't want to be this close to them. Yes, the answer is yes, I do consider them very potential candidates."

"I agree," Cooper added.

"Well, I told them two days after I got back I was ready to go again. After a night's sleep, I'd go another eight days," Conrad concluded.

Allow Executives To Change Pleas

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Four flour-milling executives, indicted on charges stemming from an alleged flour price-fixing conspiracy, have been allowed to change previous pleas of innocent to no contest.

The no-contest, nolo contendere pleas, in which the men neither admit nor deny guilt, were entered in U.S. district court here Thursday. The executives are subject to sentencing as if they had been convicted of the charges.

Judge John O. Henderson of the federal court did not set a date for sentencing, however.

A federal grand jury indicted 12 flour-milling firms and six executives in April 1964 for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. The indictments alleged that the firms and executives conspired to fix the price of bakery flour sold east of the Rocky Mountains.

All 12 firms pleaded no contest to the charges last March and were fined a total of $190,000. The six executives each entered pleas of innocent at that time.

The four executives who changed their pleas are:

William A. Lohman Jr., vice president of General Mills Inc.; William R. Seegard, vice president of the Flour Mills Division of the Peavey Co., both of Minneapolis; Bernard J. Rothwell II, president of Bay State Milling Co., Winona, Minn.; and John J. Vanier, vice president of Gooch Milling and Elevator Co., Lincoln, Neb.

Two other executives have not changed their pleas. They were scheduled to stand trial here Sept. 21.

Tax Take at Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal tax men collected more money than ever in fiscal 1965—despite a drop of nearly 2 per cent in personal income tax receipts due to reduced tax rates.

The White House announced Thursday that total collections for the bookkeeping year that ended June 30 were $114.4 billion, up $2.2 billion from the previous fiscal year.

Personal income taxes accounted for $53.7 billion, about $930 million less than was collected in fiscal year 1964. But the drop was offset by a $1.8 billion jump in corporation income taxes, which totaled $26.1 billion.

Lindsay Hits Vandalism

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. John V. Lindsay says his Republican-Liberal campaign for mayor has been the target of vandalism and that some of his volunteer workers have been threatened.

"I cannot ascribe these actions to any one person or party," Lindsay said Thursday.

He said windows have been broken at storefront campaign offices throughout the city, telephones have been ripped out and mail has been destroyed.

A Lindsay campaign aide had said much of the harassment was the work of Conservative Party members who had infiltrated the Lindsay ranks.

William F. Buckley, the Conservative candidate, challenged the statement, suggesting that any vandalism was the work of "crackpots."

Typhoon Leaves 25 Dead

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Shirley, probably the most devastating storm to slam into the Japanese islands so far this year, roared off into the Sea of Japan today after rampaging across Shikoku Island and central western Japan.

Incomplete reports said at least 25 persons were dead, 10 missing and 164 injured after the typhoon's sweep across 16 prefectures (states). There were 347 homes destroyed and 723 partially damaged, the reports said.

Aquanauts Near End

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—The aquanauts in Sealab 2 neared the end of their two-week excursion 205 feet beneath the sea by blazing underwater trails.

The trails — lines fixed to stakes driven into the ocean floor — extend up to 200 feet from the Sealab capsule and are designed to help the aquanauts get around easier in their underwater habitat.

Probe Theft of Car

State Police BCI and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents are investigating the theft of a 1963 convertible reported stolen from the J. H. Byrne used car lot on Aug. 19. The vehicle was found abandoned by Phillipsburgh, N. J., police, who notified Kingston state police.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's gains were trimmed but it remained slightly ahead early this afternoon in active trading.

Gains of fractions to a point among key stocks outnumbered losers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 338.4 with industrials up 1.0, rails off .1 and utilities up .3.

Steels were unchanged to shade higher, making their best performance of the week.

The trend was to the upside among motors, airlines, chemicals, oils and nonferrous metals.

The going was getting tougher as the list tried to make its seventh straight daily advance. Normal preweekend caution was a factor.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .82 at 918.29.

The Wall Street atmosphere was a confident one and had the extra support of a prediction by Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, that business growth will continue through next year despite some temporary setbacks caused by liquidation of steel inventories.

American Standard eased ⅛ to 19⅛ on 17,900 shares.

Jonathan Logan rose ⅛ to 35 on 10,000 shares.

Prices were mostly higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Suspected Post Of Viet Cong Is Bombed by B52s

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52s bombed a suspected Viet Cong stronghold in the central highlands of South Viet Nam today, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The raid, 325 miles northeast of Saigon, was the 21st reported for the Strategic Air Command jets in the Viet Nam war. Under security regulations, the spokesman did not give the number of planes taking part or the amount of bombs dropped.

A U.S. Marine spokesman said Thursday night that 167 Viet Cong had been killed in the big drive on the Batangan peninsula, 330 miles north of Saigon.

Betsy Moderating After Hard Blow, Storm Toll Eight

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurricane Betsy flung spray and seas at the Gulf Coast and then stormed up the Mississippi River early today in probably its finals, black night of ruin.

The storm sank much of the bayou country to the south under muddy tides, clawed at this city of a million people in the early morning hours, then spiralled inland passing 20 miles to the west of the state capital of Baton Rouge.

Leaving the sea, its once 150 mile-an-hour winds moderated, bringing a 15-day, 2,500-mile voyage of destruction that killed at least eight persons near to a close. The Weather Bureau said Betsy would weaken to heavy rains and winds in northern Louisiana and Mississippi. It said hurricane warnings would be dropped by 10 a.m. (CST)

The almost quarter-million evacues from Louisiana and Mississippi will begin to return to towns and cities left soggy junkyards by the hurricane.

"It was hell," said Burt Lozes, a member of the Civil Defense forces of Harrison County, Miss., where 17 people had been rescued from rooftops, submerged cars and floods where they were swimming for their lives. Damage to waterfront industries in the county, particularly in Gulfport, was estimated at $10 million.

The wind turned the Mississippi waterfront into melee of helpless ships, blown loose from their moorings and battering each other like huge bumper cars in an amusement park.

The New Orleans Harbor Patrol said six ocean-going vessels had broken free. Five had some crew aboard but were powerless and at the mercy of wind and current.

One of them, the Wing Arrow, was swept upstream, hit a Victory ship in the middle of the river, swerved into a cluster of tugs, then struck several moored vessels where her crew managed to get a line ashore. Others hit wharves.

Will Appeal Decision

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Fraternities and sororities at the State University" at Buffalo say they will appeal a State Supreme Court decision ordering them to sever national affiliations.

Justice Matthew J. Jasen of the State Supreme Court had upheld earlier a ban by State University trustees.

Ralph L. Halpern, an attorney representing the four fraternities and two sororities, said Thursday the appeal would be based on two points:

—That the trustees imposed unreasonable rules for distinguishing between national and local sororities and fraternities, which perform the same functions.

Blame Malfunction

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — United Airlines officials blamed a malfunction for knocking out one of four engines on a turboprop plane that made a safe emergency landing at the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

Officials said a hole in the engine cowling caused the trouble Thursday on the plane en route from Buffalo, N.Y., to Philadelphia. There were 26 aboard, including three crew members.

The pilot veered off course and decided on an unscheduled landing after a fire warning light flashed on in the control cabin, officials said. The plane continued to Philadelphia after repairs were made.

Sends New NATO Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a clear policy clash with French President Charles de Gaulle, President Johnson is sending a new ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council in Paris with instructions to strengthen and expand the political and nuclear roles of the Atlantic alliance.

"A strong NATO remains essential," Johnson told departing Ambassador Harland Cleveland, "if we are to reach a solid agreement with the Soviet Union that reflects the common interests of each of the allied nations in peace and security."

Diversification, Over and Under, To Be Avoided

Q—"You often speak of diversification. What criteria should one use to determine the extent of diversification? Can one also be over-diversified? At present I own moderate amounts of American Cyanamid, Avon Products, Food Giant Markets, Honeywell, Long Island Lighting, Magnavox, Merck, Procter & Gamble, Standard Oil of California ,Winn-Dixie Stores. On the basis of my present list, am I well—or over—diversified?" H.R.

A—You have an excellent list, if I may say so. If you put it together, you should be congratulated, and if you had help, your adviser should be commended.

Diversification means in simplest terms that you should have no more invested in any given situation than you can afford to lose. You should also avoid over-diversification, which means buying into more situations than you can follow closely.

For the average account, ten issues are sufficient with a somewhat higher number in very large portfolios. I should say that you are just about right and I suggest no changes.

Q—"In two years I will need approximately $10,000 to throw a Bar Mitzvah party for my twin sons. I now have $6,000 in cash to invest in common stocks. I realize it is a tough goal to attain. However, what would be your choice of stocks in this situation?" R.W.

A—I have the deepest sympathy with your objectives, but I believe you have set yourself not only a difficult goal to attain, but a very dangerous one as well. Investing in stocks with a relatively short time limit, in an effort to build $6,000 into $10,000, is extremely hazardous. No one can possibly foresee the level of stock prices two years hence. If you had to sell during a recession, you might suffer a serious loss of capital which could ruin your plans. Your money belongs in the savings bank where your principal will be intact when you want it.

Drug Overdose

Fishkill Mother, 3 Children Are Called Critical

BEACON, N.Y. (AP)—A Dutchess County mother and her four children were hospitalized today for treatment of what state police said was an overdose of barbiturates.

The mother, Mrs. Dorothy Jean Booluskas, 42, and three of the children were unconscious and in critical condition, police said. The fourth child regained consciousness, but was in serious condition.

Officers said John Booluskas returned to his home in Fishkill Thursday and found them sprawled about the house.

They were taken to Highland Hospital at Beacon.

The children in critical condition are Charles, 14, James, 11, and Robert, 17. Mary, 8, is in serious condition.

Sees Little Hope For Milk Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., saw little hope today for final congressional passage this year of a dual pricing plan for milk sold by dairymen under federal marketing orders.

The farm bill passed by the House included the milk section endorsed by many New York dairymen. This section was dropped from the bill, however, by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The general bill now is being debated by the full Senate.

Stratton said it is unlikely the dairy section would be reinstated in the bill's final draft by a House-Senate conference committee.

Stratton voted against the farm bill, reluctantly, he said.

Although the House version contained a dairy section wanted by most New York dairymen, it also included a wheat-subsidy section most New Yorkers opposed, he added.

Democrats Plan Full Slate; Deny Endorsement Bid

Town of Saugerties Democrats plan to enter a full slate of candidates on the Nov. 2 ballot in town elections, according to Chairman Kenneth Blundell, who issued a denial that any authorized member of the organization offered incumbent Republican Supervisor Peter M. Williams, Democratic endorsement.

There had been widely circulated reports that if Williams failed to receive the GOP nomination he would run as an independent with Democratic endorsement. Williams did not deny that he had received overtures from prominent local Democrats as to his feelings about accepting the endorsement.

Blundell emphasized that "at no time had any authorized member of the Democratic Club approached directly or indirectly, the present town supervisor for the purpose of endorsing him, or any other Republican officeholder or candidate in the 1965 elections.

"In view of the Democratic Party's growing strength and abundance of Democratic candidates, endorsement was denied, "he said.

In January, a nominating committee consisting of Committeemen Frank Costello and Edward Carey were appointed to interview and select possible candidates.

In fact, Blundell said, "Overtures have been made to the chairman and committeemen by representatives of a Republican officeholder, who was seeking endorsement."

The committee is pleased to announce, Blundell said, that candidates have been selected and will be introduced to the enrolled Democrats at the Town Democratic Caucus Saturday, Sept. 18 at 7:30 p. m. in the Donlon Auditorium of the municipal building, Partition Street, Saugerties.

The offices up for election include supervisor, town clerk, superintendent of highways, two town councilmen, justice of the peace and collector of taxes and assessments.

Chairman Blundell said he is very pleased with the interest shown in many of the 11 districts in the town, but would like to see additional active Democrats from the Quarryville and West Saugerties areas.

All interested persons are invited to the caucus and the regular monthly meeting Sept. 21 at 8 p. m. at the auditorium.

Monday Opening Of Morse School Still in Doubt

Saugerties Central School authorities, already beset by a variety of school opening problems, may be forced to announce further delay in the opening of the Grant D. Morse Elementary School at Blue Mountain.

School authorities reported last week that the new 21-room school would open a few days later than the other schools and the date was set for Monday.

However, information trickling down from the architect and contractor indicates the classrooms and toilet facilities are still incomplete.

Contrary to obvious conditions of incompletion existing at the school site, the contractor promised school officials that the Blue Mountain School would be ready to open Monday.

School opening is scheduled for Monday unless parents are notified to the contrary through news media.

At Freeman press time Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools was inspecting the Blue Mountain facilities with the contractor's representative to determine if the school could possibly be opened on Monday.

Saugerties Central Schools, beseiged by a lag in construction, were dealt additional troubles on opening day, Wednesday, when a short circuit in a transformer in the Junior-Senior High School addition cut all electrical services and a sewer stoppage at Mt. Marion School made it necessary to send pupils home before the regular closing hour.

The short circuit apparently occurred during the early morning hours and resulted in complete loss of power. Pupils arrived at the school and met with teachers but were returned to their homes as soon as transportation was available. Electrical service was restored within a few hours and no difficulties were reported Thursday.

The Mt. Marion School sewer problem was overcome and the school was operating as usual on Thursday.

Ex-Con Admits Killing Four in West Blood Spree

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — "I guess I'm gonna burn."

Sheriff Cecil Richardson of Conconiono County said that was the reaction of Donald Boggs after he was charged with killing four men on a blood-stained trek through the West.

"If you don't burn me, Texas or Utah will," the sheriff quoted Boggs as saying Thursday. He said Boggs, 23, an ex-convict, admitted the killings.

Boggs, of Londonderry, Ohio, and his girl friend, Dixie Radcliff, 16, of Amesville, Ohio, were captured Thursday in Flagstaff after an alert service station attendant spotted the stolen car in which they were traveling.

The four dead men were Halvor Johnson, 28, of Newport, N.H.; his companion, Robert Willis, 23, also of Newport; Warren Lenker, 25, a student at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, whose home was Elizabeth, Pa.; and H.B. Flory, 59, of San Antonio, Tex.

The bespectacled, crewcut Boggs grinned as he posed for photographers in the sheriff's office. At his arraignment in justice court, he waived a preliminary hearing and was held without bond.

Negotiators Hopeful of School Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Today was the deadline for a threatened strike by the city's 48,000 public school teachers, but negotiators were approaching continuing sessions with little fear the strike would materialize.

It was reliably learned after negotiations adjourned Thursday night that only money, welfare and health provisions remained to be settled.

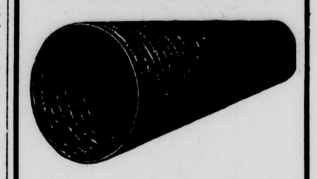

The AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers called a meeting for 4 p.m. to vote on whatever contract agreement may be reached.

Special mediator George Taylor reported Thursday night that virtually all of the 400 contractual items had been settled.

The mediators were to submit final recommendations to both sides during the day.

The teachers have asked $100 million in salary increases and fringe benefits in the two-year contract. The Board of Education has publicly offered $16.3 million.

Schools here are scheduled to open Monday.
